Reappraisal Here To Hike Valuations 12-14 Pct.--Allen

An increase of 12 per cent to 14 per cent in property valuation in Fayette County can be expected from the reappraisal now getting under way, County Auditor Harry Allen told the board of directors of the Farm Bureau here Saturday night, a spokesman for the Farm Bureau said.

He also estimated that the approved valuations will range from $170 to $220 a acre on tillable land, the spokesman said. In this connection, the auditor pointed out that the appraisal on waste land and permanent pasture will be much lower and that this would bring down the overall per acre average. He also emphasized that these estimates were on the true value, not the value for taxation.

Allen was asked to speak at the meeting, it was said, in order that the directors and several others there could get more information about the reappraisal.

Scientists Ask End to A-Tests

2000 U. S. Experts Sign Single Appeal

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Two thousand American scientists have signed an appeal urging international agreement now to stop the testing of nuclear bombs, a Nobel Prize-winning biochemist announced today.

Dr. Linus Pauling called it "an appeal by American scientists to the governments and to the people of the world."

The statement says, "Each added amount of radiation causes damage to the health of human beings all over the world." It warns of "an increase in the number of seriously defective children in future generations" and adds: "As scientists we have knowledge of the dangers involved and therefore a special responsibility to make those dangers known."

Pauling, head of the Division of Technology in Pasadena, said the statement was prepared by him "as an individual scientist and was signed by other scientists as individuals."

The 2,000 signatures include two other Nobel Prize winners—Dr. H. J. Muller, Indiana University, who received the prize in 1946 for discovering that penetrating radiation produces mutations in plants and animals, and Dr. Joseph E. Langer, Washington University, St. Louis, 1944 winner in physiology and medicine.

"ABOUT HALF of the scientists who signed the appeal are biologists, and many of the others are biochemists, chemists and medical scientists," Pauling said.

Dr. Pauling won the Nobel award in 1954 for research in chemistry. He said Sunday that fallout from nuclear tests will cause 200,000 children in each of the next 20 generations to be mentally or physically defective.

He said the appeal resulted from an address he gave last May 15 to students and faculty at Washington University. He said he emphasized there is essentially unanimous agreement among scientists experienced in biological effects of radiation as to magnitude of the effects.

He said he expressed conviction that to stop the testing through international agreement would be an effective first step toward averting a cataclysmic nuclear war.

Klan Leader Says Bride, 15, Plans To Return to Him

TALLADEGA, Ala. (AP)—A 15-year-old Klan leader says his 15-year-old bride will return to him as soon as her mother is well.

Alvin Horn, a grand dragon of the U. S. Klan, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, made the statement Sunday after his young wife, Barbara Ellice Richardson Horn, was turned over to her father by Tuscaloosa County authorities.

The girl, who had left her Talladega home Monday, was arrested on a vagrancy warrant following a Ku Klux Klan parade at Tuscaloosa Saturday night.

She was freed on $300 bond Sunday. Horn said it was "mutually agreed" that after Mrs. William Richardson recovers from the shock of her disappearance Barbara will return to him. He said they had been married about six weeks.

Congressman-Pastor Stricken in Church

NEW YORK (AP)—Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr. (D-NY) was stricken with exhaustion and a possible heart attack Sunday while preaching a sermon to 1,700 worshippers in a Harlem church.

The 48-year-old Negro congressman-pastor was taken to a New York hospital, where his condition was described as "not serious." Powell is serving his sixth term in Congress. Although a Democrat, he supported the re-election of President Eisenhower last year.

Record-Setting Climb

ADJUSTING HIMSELF into a pressurized metal capsule (left), Air Force Capt. Joe Kittinger, 28, is carried by a balloon (right) to an altitude of 96,000 feet or nearly 18 miles, the highest ever reached by a manned balloon. The flight originated from Fleming Field in South St. Paul, Minn., as part of operation "Man High" conducted by personnel of the Holloman Air Development Center, New Mexico.

Test Pilot Rides Balloon To Altitude of 18 Miles

ST. PAUL (AP)—A daring Air Force test pilot, sealed in a metal capsule attached to a huge plastic balloon, rode to a record-breaking 96,000 feet (18 miles) Sunday in a flight he said was "inspiring, the proudest of my life."

Capt. J. W. Kittinger Jr., 28, bettered by nearly four miles the previous manned-balloon altitude mark of 76,900 feet, set over Rapid City, S. D., by two Navy commanders last November.

He described the trip, from takeoff at 6:23 a. m. at Fleming Field here to the landing near Weaver, Minn., about 80 miles south at 12:57 p. m., as "completely successful."

The flight was one in a series of tests which may prove valuable in rocket and possible manned satellite flights. Another manned balloon will be sent to over 100,000 feet for 24 hours sometime this summer. Kittinger spent about 12 hours in the cramped 367-foot pressurized capsule. He entered the craft at 1 a. m. to begin instrument tests and checks.

ASKED IF HE suffered any feelings of claustrophobia, he replied: "I've spent six days in that capsule and it feels just like home." He said the view was "most beautiful and inspiring," and that from his position just a few miles east of Minneapolis he could see the eastern boundaries of Lake Michigan.

Kittinger said he could see well from the gondola at maximum altitude. But because the capsule remained pointed in one direction while at that height his range of vision was limited to the east.

Kittinger said he could see the Lake Michigan shoreline "but I couldn't find Chicago." Lake Michigan is about 300 airline miles from where Kittinger reached maximum altitude. He said he was not nervous during the flight and that the ascent was made in 78 minutes. He remained at 96,000 feet, the balloon's maximum, for an hour and 50 minutes before being summoned down when voice radio facilities in the gondola failed.

Dulles' Sister Suggests U. S. Study Red Education Ideas

OXFORD (AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Lansing Dulles said today the Soviet educational system "has some features which we will have to examine carefully" to see whether they should be adapted to American education.

For example, she said in a commencement address prepared for Western College here, "The Russians have seen fit to lift from the students, as far as possible, their personal economic problems."

Mrs. Dulles, a State Department official and sister of the Secretary of State, added that "perhaps we should take another look at the economic obligations and anxieties that compete with studies for the time and energy of the young people in our own colleges."

She said that the Soviets require the students to whom they give such financial help to work as hard as if they were in a defense factory or "the most arduous phase of their professional life."

She questioned whether such pressure is desirable or students in the United States, saying that "we must remember that in a democracy our concern is with leadership as well as with technicians."

Mrs. Dulles said the Soviet system is directed to turning out technicians and at the same time avoiding, if possible, "teaching the students to think."

She reviewed restlessness among students in the Soviet satellite countries and in Russia as evidence of the threat which she said education creates for the Communist system of rule and declared:

"We know now from recent experience that questions are more dangerous to the Communist system than atomic bombs."

Mrs. Dulles said that Western education "may suffer from some reluctance to impose discipline" such as that which operates under the Soviet system.

But education in the West, she declared, "attempts to give the variety, the richness and a knowledge of comparative values which is our heritage from many nations and which for many centuries of schooling."

"It has a deeper quality of self discipline. Each student is assumed to be in a lifelong search for the truth. I think we can conclude in spite of our concern for our weakness and the Soviet drive in the field of education, that the risks to leadership of the United States are small."

Ohio Reports 27 Near-Miss Air Crashes

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the latter part of last year, an airliner carrying 49 passengers was flying 14,000 feet above the vicinity of Waterville, in Lucas County, Ohio. It was daytime. The sky was overcast.

Suddenly, the pilot spotted another plane coming at him from dead ahead, between 500 and 1,000 feet away.

The pilot managed to turn the airliner in time to avoid collision. But he considered the incident a sufficiently close call to report it to the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Under a new program, pilots have been reporting near collisions of this type to the CAB since last summer. The figures show that in Ohio alone there have been 27 near misses in the air from September, 1956, through March, 1957.

Here is the way those near collisions break down for Ohio (name of city indicates area, meaning the near miss was not necessarily directly over the city):

Dayton and Wright - Patterson Field 10, Akron 3, Mansfield 3, Cleveland 2, Columbus 2, Cincinnati 2, Wilmington 1, Cambridge 1, Waterville 1, unidentified as to city but in Ohio 2.

Many of the planes involved carried 60 passengers.

This whole subject of near misses in the air was taken up not long ago by Rep. Harry G. Haskell Jr. (R-Del). He called the matter "an extremely serious air traffic situation, particularly over large centers of population."

Pilots around the country, he noted, reported 452 near collisions for the last four months of 1956. That is almost four a day.

6 Yankees Fined $1000, Report

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Journal American said today it had learned that the six New York Yankees involved in the May 16 night club brawl had been fined $1,000 each.

The story said fines went to Hank Bauer, Mickey Mantle, Billy Martin, Yogi Berra, Whitey Ford and Johnny Kucks.

As a result of the incident at the Copacabana, Bauer faces a hearing on a felonious assault charge filed by a Bronx delicatessen store owner who claims he suffered a fractured nose, bruised ribs and a scalp bruise.

A Yankee spokesman refused to confirm or deny the story.

Ohio Holiday Toll Hits 35

24 Persons Killed In Traffic Mishaps

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Thirty-five persons died accidentally in Ohio during the long Memorial Day weekend which began last Wednesday. Twenty-four of these were in traffic accidents.

Safety officials had predicted before the holiday period began that highway accidents would claim 21 lives in Ohio—the average for each of the last two Memorial Day weekends.

Of the total dead, five drowned and six died in various types of accidents, according to an Associated Press survey which began last Wednesday at 6 p. m. and ended at midnight Sunday.

The holiday death toll remained low Wednesday and Thursday with only five reported, but the fatalities mounted as motorists hit the highways Saturday and Sunday.

There were 408 highway deaths on the national scene for the holiday period. The toll was about what would have been on any comparable nonholiday period in the summer.

California led the nation with 37 traffic deaths. Texas was second with 32. North Dakota reported none.

THE NATIONAL toll, however, was well above the 347 traffic deaths recorded on the last previous four-day Memorial Day weekend in 1950. Fewer cars were on the road then, though.

The latest count of accidental deaths for the period from 6 p. m. last Wednesday to midnight Sunday included 134 drownings and 113 from miscellaneous causes.

The National Safety Council had said about 405 motorists could be expected to die on any four-day summer period not involving a holiday.

The council's prediction of 120 highway deaths for the Memorial Day period alone (6 p. m. Wednesday to midnight Thursday) was 26 above the actual toll.

U. S. Inquiring About Missing Yankee Youths

BUDAPEST (AP)—The head of the U. S. diplomatic mission asked the Foreign Ministry today for permission to see two hitchhiking University of South Carolina students believed under arrest in Communist Hungary.

Spencer Barnes inquired about Mike A. Gilbert of Waterboro and Warren Hair of North August, S. C. They disappeared across the Hungarian frontier last Wednesday. They had been staying in an Austrian youth hostel. A girl there quoted the two 20-year-old Americans as saying they were going into Hungary "for excitement."

Hungarian Interior Minister Bela Biszku and Foreign Minister Imre Horvath disclaimed any knowledge of the Americans' whereabouts. The ministers were questioned by Western reporters in the corridors of Parliament.

Biszku commented that it was "strange" that the pair should have come to Hungary without proper papers and asked when they were believed to have crossed the frontier. Told it was on May 26, Biszku replied only that he had no knowledge of the case and referred questioners to the Foreign Ministry and the U. S. legation.

The legation's note to the Foreign Ministry reported details of the case and asked information about the two students. This is routine procedure when an American disappears in a foreign country. Usually a reply comes within a few days, though in Communist countries it may be delayed and noncommittal.

Lightning Kills Girl Sitting on Bandstand

PLAINFIELD, N. J. (AP)—A bolt of lightning struck and killed a 13-year-old girl as she sat on a bandstand rail here Sunday.

Patricia O'Neill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James O'Neill, was sitting when a bolt of lightning cracked into an elm tree, shot along a bandstand light wire and sent her sprawling 10 feet onto the grass.

Khrushchev Sees Socialism for U. S.

NEW YORK (AP)—Nikita S. Khrushchev, top Soviet Communist, entered millions of American living rooms Sunday by television. He exuded confidence in ultimate world victory of the Soviet system and predicted even the grandchildren of his American viewers would live under such a system.

But, said the reigning world Communist boss, the Soviet Union does not want to go to war to impose its way. Instead, he said, the U.S.S.R. wants to compete with the United States economically and ideologically.

Khrushchev's appearance, history making in itself, added little to the world's knowledge of Soviet aims. Most of what he said in an hourlong filmed interview for the Columbia Broadcasting System's Face the Nation program had been said before.

The questions put to him were unrehearsed, but the Soviet party chief had been told beforehand of the general subjects.

He repeated Russian proposals regarding disarmament, troop withdrawals and other international questions. At one point he indicated the Soviet Union has gone just about as far as it intends to go in the matter of concessions in the current disarmament negotiations. Khrushchev now is waiting for counter-proposals, he said.

"OUR MOST radical steps have been proposed," he said. "We have made proposals on disarmament. We suggest that restrictions on trade be discarded. We suggest that the United States lower the Iron Curtain and start a widespread cultural exchange. I find it difficult to add anything else to that now. If the United States were to reciprocate in kind, we would have great progress."

Khrushchev, who never before gave a television interview inside or outside the U.S.S.R., told his American audience the Soviet Union wants to compete with the United States. The Soviet Union would prevail, he said, because it is "a younger system, the most healthy system."

"If you are acquainted with history," he said, "and know how one social system was changed and another system took its place, you will know that the old capitalist system in our country has been replaced by the Socialist system, and I can prophesy that your grandchildren in America will live under socialism."

The Soviet leader reaffirmed a Russian acceptance, made clear in the London disarmament talks, of the idea of "some small step" toward a disarmament agreement, instead of insisting as previously on a comprehensive agreement.

He offered again to trade Soviet withdrawal of troops from the satellite Communist nations in return for the withdrawal of foreign forces from the North Atlantic Treaty bases. He insisted there was no chance communism would be overthrown in the satellites in the absence of Soviet troops, and even the regime of Premier Janos Kadar in Hungary, installed by Soviet guns after the revolution last fall, would survive.

KHRUSHCHEV predicted the Soviet Union would catch up with the United States in 1958 in per capita production of milk and butter, and in 1960 or 1961 in per capita production of meat.

Khrushchev's idea of how peace can be brought about is this: First must come normalization of relations between the United States and the U.S.S.R., then a removal of trade restrictions. Thereafter would come exchanges of business and cultural delegations. He conceded the people of the United States show no support of Marxism-Leninism.

Foul Weather Pounds Texas Areas Again

DALLAS (AP)—Wide sections of Texas took another beating from the weather over the weekend and flooding continued today in many parts of the water-logged state.

Rivers and streams were on the rise from the Oklahoma border to the Rio Grande after torrential weekend rains in both Oklahoma and Texas. Several tornadoes were reported but caused little or no damage.

At least seven Texas deaths were linked to the weather Sunday. Five persons were killed in a two-car collision in a rainstorm. Two unidentified airmen from Randolph Air Force Base were swept down a raging creek at San Antonio and were presumed drowned.

The continuous turbulent weather was taking a heavy toll in crops. Cotton and grains were severely damaged, particularly in north Texas.

Cloudbursts along the upper Red River in Oklahoma sent torrents downstream toward Lake Texoma on the Texas-Oklahoma border. The river was on one of its greatest rises in history.

A railroad bridge across Shawnee creek below Lake Texoma's spillway was virtually washed away after the discharge over the spillway reached two feet.

A tornado Sunday night tore the roof off a building and garage on the outskirts of Texas City, but the twister passed on without further damage. None was injured.

6 Injured, 3 Arrested In Weekend Accidents

An unlicensed 15-year-old Greenfield driver crashed his car into a Washington C. H. home and caused injury to his two adult passengers Sunday afternoon in the most spectacular of seven auto accidents in the city and county over the weekend.

A total of six people were injured and three were arrested as a result of the mishaps.

Charged with reckless operation and driving without a license following the Sunday afternoon accident was Donald Mercer, 15, of Greenfield.

Mercer told police he was driving south on Hopkins St. and attempting to turn left onto Broadway when the auto he was driving went out of control, whirled through a U-turn, smashed into a two-foot concrete wall and rolled into the side of W. C. Allen's home, 330 Hopkins St.

INJURED were Faye Mercer, 75, the boy's grandmother, and Martin Kearns, 52, both of Greenfield. Mrs. Mercer received cuts on the face while Kearns sustained a sprained left wrist. They were treated by a physician.

Kearns' wife who was not a passenger, is listed as the owner of the vehicle.

The front end of the auto was demolished. Police said one of the two passengers will be charged with permitting an unlicensed driver to drive.

AN 8-YEAR-OLD Sabina girl received cuts on her neck about 5:15 p. m. Saturday when she ran into the left side of an auto driven by Nellie Mossbarger, 62, of W. Elm St., near the corner of Oak and Harrison Sts. Treated by a physician, the girl, Velma Daugherty, 8, told police she was playing and did not look before running into the street.

"Reported in 'good' condition at Memorial Hospital Monday noon was Frank Mancuso, 25, Philadelphia, Pa., who was injured in an auto accident about 4 a. m. Monday on the CCC Highway west.

Mancuso was a passenger in an auto driven by Liborio Lomanaco, 23, of Philadelphia, who told Sheriff Orland Hayz he was driving west when he saw an auto and a truck driving towards him in the two lanes.

Lomanaco said he made for the ditch, but his auto rolled over. The car was demolished, and Mancuso suffered a broken jaw.

$150 Million Said Needed

Another Cutback In Service Feared

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today asked Congress for a supplemental appropriation of nearly $150 million for the Postoffice Department. He said it is needed to avert a substantial cutback in mail service July 1.

This money would be an addition to the $3.1 billion Congress already has appropriated to run the department in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

In announcing the request, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty noted that the President said on May 27 in signing a trimmed-down Postoffice Department money bill, that the $3.1 billion would be "insufficient unless postal services are to be substantially curtailed" starting July 1.

Hagerty said today that is still the position of the President and Postmaster General Summerfield. In January Eisenhower asked Congress for $34 billion for the Postoffice Department for the new fiscal year.

THE HOUSE and Senate cut that amount by over $57 million. Hagerty said the department now finds that it needs not only restoration of that cut but an additional $92 million because of a bigger work load increase than had been anticipated in January.

The press secretary said it is now estimated that the Postoffice in the new fiscal year will have to handle 1.4 billion more pieces of mail than it calculated at the time the budget was prepared.

In recommending a supplemental appropriation of $149½ million, Budget Director Percival Brundage wrote Eisenhower "it is urgent that immediate action be taken" by Congress.

Brundage said that if the additional money is not forthcoming, the total amount already appropriated will have to be spread over the 12 months of the new year.

And that, Hagerty said, would mean reduction of mail service. Summerfield said last week that Saturday mail deliveries probably would have to be eliminated if his department did not get the money Eisenhower requested today.

Saturday deliveries were eliminated one week recently when Congress did not promptly provide a Postoffice supplemental appropriation for the current fiscal year when ends June 30.

Hagerty said the $149½ million is needed for these purposes: Restoration of the cut voted by Congress, $57,400,000; increased work load, $64,900,000; salary increases, $21,600,000; and payment of claims, $5,600,000.

Sea Lion Back Home After Spree Off Long Island

NEW YORK (AP)—Sharkey, a friendly sea lion that swam away from home and startled Long Island boatmen and bathers for a week, is back with her owner again.

Al Sheridan caught up with his 3-year-old pet Sunday at the Coney Island aquarium. It was a happy reunion. Sharkey nuzzled him, handed him a wet flipper.

Sheridan said Sharkey swam away from home at North Long Beach, N. Y., May 3 in pursuit of a school of fish.

Last week she popped up in Shinnecock Bay, about 50 miles from home. Saturday she appeared in Brooklyn's Sheepshead Bay and cavorted in and out of fishing boats.

Police finally netted Sharkey and placed her in the aquarium.

John L. Lewis Slated For Honorary Degree

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (AP)—John L. Lewis, bushy-eyed leader of the nation's coal miners today returned to the scene of his union's bloodiest early battles to receive an honorary degree from West Virginia University.

It was the first degree of any kind for the 77-year-old United Mine Workers president who left school at the age of 14 to work fulltime in the coal mines.

West Virginia honored him today with an honorary degree of doctor of law at the university's 88th commencement exercises.

IN ANSWER to questions Allen said the reappraisal was made because many farm buildings have not been listed for taxation; that there is a penalty for not reporting new buildings or additions to old ones; that it is the responsibility of the property owner to make these reports; that property owners have the right to examine the appraisal cards in the auditor's office any time and that property owners have the right to ask the county Board of Revision for an adjustment. This board is made up of the treasurer, auditor and chairman of the Board of County Commissioners.

Allen told the Farm Bureau directors that a contract has been let for $42,000 to the firm of Cole-Layer-Trumble, Dayton, to make the appraisal in Fayette County. The last appraisal was made in 1949, he said, and explained that, under state law, a reappraisal must be conducted every six years. New Offices For President Being Talked WASHINGTON (AP) — A $32,350,000 program calling for construction of a spacious presidential office building and expansion of the White House grounds was recommended to President Eisenhower today.

A study commission presented the plan which contemplates razing the old State War-Navy Building just west of the White House and erection on that site of a new office building for the President.

Under the plan the present west wing of the White House, where the President and some of his staff now have their offices, would be remodeled for use as quarters for visiting dignitaries. The program also envisions a new executive office building across Pennsylvania Avenue, just northwest of the White House. Congress already has authorized construction of an office building there.

The study commission which reported to Eisenhower today was created by Congress in 1956.

But chances that Congress will authorize the program this session, if Eisenhower calls for such action, appeared dim in the light of the economy mood now prevailing in Congress. On top of that, House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) recently said he was against any plan for razing the old State-War-Navy building.

Test Pilot Rides Balloon To Altitude of 18 Miles

ST. PAUL (AP) — A daring Air Force test pilot, sealed in a metal capsule attached to a huge plastic balloon, rode to a record-breaking 96,000 feet (18 miles) Sunday in a flight he said was "inspiring, the proudest of my life."

Capt. J. W. Kittinger Jr., 28, bettered by nearly four miles the previous manned-balloon altitude mark of 76,000 feet, set over Rapid City, S. D., by two Navy commanders last November.

He described the trip, from takeoff at 6:23 a. m. at Fleming Field here to the landing near Weaver, Minn., about 80 miles south at 12:57 p. m., as "completely successful."

The flight was one in a series of tests which may prove valuable in rocket and possible manned satellite flights. Another manned balloon will be sent to over 100,000 feet for 24 hours sometime this summer.

Kittinger spent about 12 hours in the cramped 367-foot pressurized capsule. He entered the craft at 1 a. m. to begin instrument tests and checks.

ASKED IF HE suffered any feelings of claustrophobia, he replied: "I've spent six days in that capsule and it feels just like home."

He said the view was "most beautiful and inspiring," and that from his position just a few miles east of Minneapolis he could see the eastern boundaries of Lake Michigan.

Kittinger said he could see well from the gondola at maximum altitude. But because the capsule remained pointed in one direction while at that height his range of vision was limited to the east.

Kittinger said he could see the Lake Michigan shoreline "but I couldn't find Chicago." Lake Michigan is about 300 airline miles from where Kittinger reached maximum altitude.

He said he was not nervous during the flight and that the ascent was made in 78 minutes. He remained at 96,000 feet, the balloon's maximum, for an hour and 50 minutes before being summoned down when voice radio facilities in the gondola failed.

It had originally been planned to keep the balloon at maximum height for several hours. Kittinger wore a pressure suit in the instrument-crammed gondola. He said the temperature remained at a comfortable 55 degrees inside although it was 70 below outside. For lunch he ate a peanut butter sandwich.

He described the trip, from takeoff at 6:23 a. m. at Fleming Field here to the landing near Weaver, Minn., about 80 miles south at 12:57 p. m., as "completely successful."

The flight was one in a series of tests which may prove valuable in rocket and possible manned satellite flights. Another manned balloon will be sent to over 100,000 feet for 24 hours sometime this summer.

Ohio Reports 27 Near-Miss Air Crashes

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the latter part of last year, an airliner carrying 49 passengers was flying 14,000 feet above the vicinity of Waterville, in Lucas County, Ohio.

It was daytime. The sky was overcast. Suddenly, the pilot spotted another plane coming at him from dead ahead, between 500 and 1,000 feet away.

The pilot managed to turn the airliner in time to avoid collision. But he considered the incident a sufficiently close call to report it to the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Under a new program, pilots have been reporting near collisions of this type to the CAB since last summer. The figures show that in Ohio alone there have been 27 near misses in the air from September, 1956, through March, 1957.

Here is the way those near collisions break down for Ohio (name of city indicates area, meaning the near miss was not necessarily directly over the city):

Dayton and Wright — Patterson Field 10, Akron 3, Mansfield 3, Cleveland 2, Columbus 2, Cincinnati 2, Wilmington 1, Cambridge 1, Waterville 1, unidentified as to city but in Ohio 2.

Many of the planes involved carried few passengers. This whole subject of near misses in the air was taken up not long ago by Rep. Harry G. Haskell Jr. (R-Ind.). He called the matter "an extremely serious air traffic situation, particularly over large centers of population."

Pilots around the country, he noted, reported 452 near collisions for the last four months of 1956. That is almost four a day.

6 Yankees Fined $1000, Report

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Journal American said today it had learned that the six New York Yankees involved in the May 16 night club brawl had been fined $1,000 each.

The story said fines went to Hank Bauer, Mickey Mantle, Billy Martin, Yogi Berra, Mantle Ford and Johnny Kucks.

As a result of the incident at the Copacabana, Bauer faces a hearing on a felonious assault charge filed by a Bronx delicatessen store owner who claims he suffered a fractured nose, bruised ribs and a scalp laceration.

A Yankee spokesman refused to confirm or deny the story.

Ohio Holiday Toll Hits 35

24 Persons Killed In Traffic Mishaps

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thirty-five persons died accidentally in Ohio during the long Memorial Day weekend which began last Wednesday. Twenty-four of these were in traffic accidents.

Safety officials had predicted before the holiday period began that highway accidents would claim 21 lives in Ohio—the average for each of the last two Memorial Day weekends.

Of the total dead, five drowned and six died in various types of accidents, according to an Associated Press survey which began last Wednesday at 6 p. m. and ended at midnight Sunday.

The holiday death toll remained low Wednesday and Thursday with only five reported, but the fatalities mounted as motorists hit the highways Saturday and Sunday.

There were 408 highway deaths on the national scene for the holiday period. The toll was about what would have been on any comparable nonholiday period in the summer.

California led the nation with 37 traffic deaths. Texas was second with 32. North Dakota reported none.

THE NATIONAL toll, however, was well above the 347 traffic deaths recorded on the last previous four-day Memorial Day weekend in 1950. Fewer cars were on the road then, though.

The latest count of accidental deaths for the period from 6 p. m. last Wednesday to midnight Sunday included 134 drownings and 113 from miscellaneous causes.

The National Safety Council had said about 405 motorists could be expected to die on any four-day summer period not involving a holiday.

The council's prediction of 120 highway deaths for the Memorial Day period alone (6 p. m. Wednesday to midnight Thursday) was 26 above the actual toll.

U. S. Inquiring About Missing Yankee Youths

BUDAPEST (AP) — The head of the U. S. diplomatic mission asked the Foreign Ministry today for permission to see two hitchhiking University of South Carolina students believed under arrest in Communist Hungary.

Spencer Barnes inquired about Mike A. Gilbert of Waterbury and Warren Hair of North August, S. C. They disappeared across the Hungarian frontier last Wednesday. They had been staying in an Austrian youth hostel. A girl there quoted the two 20-year-old Americans as saying they were going into Hungary "for excitement."

Hungarian Interior Minister Bela Biszku and Foreign Minister Imre Horvath disclaimed any knowledge of the Americans' whereabouts. The ministers were questioned by Western reporters in the corridors of Parliament.

Biszku commented that it was "strange" that the pair should have come to Hungary without proper papers and asked when they were believed to have crossed the frontier. Told it was on May 26, Biszku replied only that he had no knowledge of the case and referred questioners to the Foreign Ministry and the U. S. Legation.

The legation's note to the Foreign Ministry reported details of the case and asked information about the two students. This is routine procedure when an American disappears in a foreign country. Usually a reply comes within a few days, though in Communist countries it may be delayed and noncommittal.

Lightning Kills Girl Sitting on Bandstand

PLAINFIELD, N. J. (AP) — A bolt of lightning struck and killed a 13-year-old girl as she sat on a bandstand rail here Sunday.

Patricia O'Neill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James O'Neill, was sitting on a thundershower police said when a bolt of lightning cracked into an elm tree, shot along a bandstand light wire and sent her sprawling 10 feet onto the grass.

Khrushchev Sees Socialism for U. S.

NEW YORK (AP) — Nikita S. Khrushchev, top Soviet Communist, entered millions of American living rooms Sunday by television.

He exuded confidence in ultimate world victory of the Soviet system and predicted even the grandchildren of his American viewers would live under such a system.

But, said the reigning world Communist boss, the Soviet Union does not want to go to war to impose its way. Instead, he said, the U.S.S.R. wants to compete with the United States economically and ideologically.

Khrushchev's appearance, history making in itself, added little to the world's knowledge of Soviet aims. Most of what he said in an hour-long filmed interview for the Columbia Broadcasting System's Face the Nation program had been said before.

The questions put to him were unrehearsed, but the Soviet party chief had been told beforehand of the general subjects.

He repeated Russian proposals regarding disarmament, troop withdrawals and other international questions. At one point he indicated the Soviet Union has gone just about as far as it intends to go in the matter of concessions in the current disarmament negotiations. Khrushchev now is waiting for counter-proposals, he said.

"OUR MOST radical steps have been proposed," he said. "We have made proposals on disarmament. We suggest that restrictions on trade be discarded. We suggest that the United States lower the Iron Curtain and start a widespread cultural exchange. I find it difficult to add anything else to that now. If the United States were to reciprocate in kind, we would have great progress."

Khrushchev, who never before gave a television interview inside or outside the U.S.S.R., told his American audience the Soviet Union wants to compete with the United States. The Soviet Union would prevail, he said, because it is "a younger system, the most healthy system."

"If you are acquainted with history," he said, "and know how one social system was changed and another system took its place, you will know that the old capitalist system in our country has been replaced by the Socialist system, and I can prophesy that your grandchildren in America will live under socialism."

The Soviet leader reaffirmed a Russian acceptance, made clear in the London disarmament talks, of the idea of "some small step" toward a disarmament agreement, instead of insisting as previously on a comprehensive agreement.

He offered again to trade Soviet withdrawal of troops from the satellite Communist nations in return for the withdrawal of foreign forces from the North Atlantic Treaty bases. He insisted there was no chance communism would be overthrown in the satellites in the absence of Soviet troops, and even the regime of Premier Janos Kadar in Hungary, installed by Soviet guns after the revolution last fall, would survive.

KHRUSHCHEV predicted the Soviet Union would catch up with the United States in 1958 in per capita production of milk and butter, and in 1960 or 1961 in per capita production of meat.

Khrushchev's idea of how peace can be brought about is this: First must come normalization of relations between the United States and the U.S.S.R., then a removal of trade restrictions. Thereafter would come exchanges of business and cultural delegations. He conceded the people of the United States show no support of Marxism-Leninism.

Foul Weather Pounds Texas Areas Again

DALLAS (AP) — Wide sections of Texas took another beating from the weather over the weekend and flooding continued today in many parts of the water-logged state.

Rivers and streams were on the rise from the Oklahoma border to the Rio Grande after torrential weekend rains in both Oklahoma and Texas. Several tornadoes were reported but caused little or no damage.

At least seven Texas deaths were linked to the weather Sunday. Five persons were killed in a two-car collision in a rainstorm. Two unidentified airmen from Randolph Air Force Base were swept down a raging creek at San Antonio and were presumed drowned.

The continuous turbulent weather was taking a heavy toll in crops. Cotton and grains were severely damaged, particularly in north Texas.

Cloudbursts along the upper Red River in Oklahoma sent torrents downstream toward Lake Texoma on the Texas-Oklahoma border. The river was on one of its greatest rises in history.

A railroad bridge across Shawnee creek below Lake Texoma's spillway was virtually washed away after the discharge over the spillway reached two feet.

A tornado Sunday night tore the roof off a building and garage on the outskirts of Texas City, but the twister passed on without further damage. None was injured.

6 Injured, 3 Arrested In Weekend Accidents

An unlicensed 15-year-old Greenfield driver crashed his car into a Washington C. H. home and caused injury to his two adult passengers Sunday afternoon in the most spectacular of seven auto accidents in the city and county over the weekend.

A total of six people were injured and three were arrested as a result of the mishaps.

Charged with reckless operation and driving without a license following the Sunday afternoon accident was Donald Mercer, 15, of Greenfield.

Mercer told police he was driving south on Hopkins St. and attempting to turn left onto Broadway when the auto he was driving went out of control, whirled through a U-turn, smashed into a two-foot concrete wall and rolled into the side of W. C. Allen's home, 330 Hopkins St.

INJURED were Faye Mercer, 75, the boy's grandmother, and Martin Kearns, 32, both of Greenfield. Mrs. Mercer received cuts on the face while Kearns sustained a sprained left wrist. They were treated by a physician.

Kearns' wife who was not a passenger, is listed as the owner of the vehicle.

The front end of the auto was demolished. Police said one of the two passengers will be charged with permitting an unlicensed driver to drive.

AN 8-YEAR-OLD Sabina girl received cuts on her neck about 5:15 p. m. Saturday when she ran into the left side of an auto driven by Nellie Mossbarger, 62, of W. Elm St., near the corner of Oak and Harrison Sts. Treated by a physician, the girl, Velma Daugherty, 8, told police she was playing and did not look before running into the street.

"Reported in 'good' condition at Memorial Hospital Monday noon was Frank Mancuso, 25, Philadelphia, Pa., who was injured in an auto accident about 4 a. m. Monday on the CCC Highway west.

Mancuso was a passenger in an auto driven by Liborio Lomanaco, 23, of Philadelphia, who told Sheriff Orland Hay: he was driving west when he saw an auto and a truck driving towards him in the two lanes.

Lomanaco said he made for the ditch, but his auto rolled over. The car was demolished, and Mancuso suffered a broken jaw.

$150 Million Said Needed

Another Cutback In Service Feared

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today asked Congress for a supplemental appropriation of nearly $150 million for the Postoffice Department. He said it is needed to avert a substantial cutback in mail service July 1.

This money would be an addition to the $3.1 billion Congress already has appropriated to run the department in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

In announcing the request, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty noted that the President said on May 27 in signing a trimmed-down Postoffice Department money bill, that the $3.1 billion would be "insufficient unless postal services are to be substantially curtailed" starting July 1.

Hagerty said today that is still the position of the President and Postmaster General Summerfield. In January Eisenhower asked Congress for $34 billion for the Postoffice Department for the new fiscal year.

THE HOUSE and Senate cut that amount by over $57 million.

Hagerty said the department now finds that it needs not only restoration of that cut but an additional $92 million because of a bigger work load increase than had been anticipated in January.

The press secretary said it is now estimated that the Postoffice in the new fiscal year will have to handle 1.4 billion more pieces of mail than it calculated at the time the budget was prepared.

In recommending a supplemental appropriation of $149½ million, Budget Director Percival Brundage wrote Eisenhower "it is urgent that immediate action be taken" by Congress.

Brundage said that if the additional money is not forthcoming, the total amount already appropriated will have to be spread over the 12 months of the new year.

And that, Hagerty said, would mean reduction of mail service. Summerfield said last week that Saturday mail deliveries probably would have to be eliminated if his department did not get the money Eisenhower requested today.

Saturday deliveries were eliminated one week recently when Congress did not promptly provide a Postoffice supplemental appropriation for the current fiscal year when ends June 30.

Hagerty said the $149½ million is needed for these purposes: Restoration of the cut voted by Congress, $57,400,000; increased work load, $64,900,000; salary increases, $21,600,000; and payment of claims, $5,600,000.

Sea Lion Back Home After Spree Off Long Island

NEW YORK (AP) — Sharkey, a friendly sea lion that swam away from home and startled Long Island boatmen and bathers for a week, is back with her owner again.

Al Sheridan caught up with his 3-year-old pet Sunday at the Coney Island aquarium. It was a happy reunion. Sharkey nuzzled him, handed him a wet flipper.

Sheridan said Sharkey swam away from home at North Long Beach, N. Y., May 5 in pursuit of a school of fish.

Last week she popped up in Shinnecock Bay, about 50 miles from home. Saturday she appeared in Brooklyn's Sheepshead Bay and cavorted in and out of fishing boats.

Police finally netted Sharkey and placed her in the aquarium.

John L. Lewis Slated For Honorary Degree

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (AP) — John L. Lewis, bushy-eyed, bearded leader of the nation's coal miners today returned to the scene of his union's bloodiest early battles to receive an honorary degree from West Virginia University.

It was the first degree of any kind for the 77-year-old United Mine Workers president who left school at the age of 14 to work fulltime in the coal mines.

West Virginia honored him today with an honorary degree of doctor of law at the university's 88th commencement exercises.

Commissioners Won't Employ 'Administrator'

Fayette County
To Forego Hiring
Special Aide

Fayette County Commissioners said Monday that they had unanimously agreed they would not employ an administrator to aid them with their work in county affairs.

The present Ohio Legislature has enacted a law, effective in 90 days, which grants county commissioners the right but not the duty to hire an administrator who can act in the capacity of clerk or assistant to carry out the commissioners' orders in matters coming before that board and in gathering and classifying information necessary in connection with business on which they are to act.

Robert Cockerill, Ralph Minton and Clifford E. Hughes, the present commissioners, agreed that while such an employee might be able to save some money and certainly a considerable amount of time for the commissioners in handling almost endless details connected with their office, they do not believe the county's finances would justify creation here of such a new position at this time.

THE COUNTY AUDITOR Harry Allen under the law, has been acting as a secretary for the board of commissioners here for several years past, and will continue to do so, the commissioners said. He receives no extra salary or fees. It was said however that he cannot do all the detail work which would be expected of a "county manager" for which the new law provides because of his duties in the office he holds.

The commissioners pointed out that the new law may be of special help for the big counties of the state but, in their opinion is unnecessary in a county this size.

AT THEIR regular Monday session in the Courthouse, the commissioners passed a resolution appointing Sam Parrett as "agent of record" for county insurance controlled by the board. He has held that position for some time.

As has been the case for the past several years, the Fayette County Insurance Assn. has agreed that one of its members shall act in this capacity and the insurance is divided as equitable as possible among the local agencies of this organization.

The insurance fees which ordinarily go to the agents is placed in the association's treasury and is used for purposes of insurance education for the public and in aiding in "safety" matters affecting the public good, a spokesman for the organization stated.

Routine matters and approval of bills were the only other matters before the commissioners at today's session.

Well Passes 3,000 Feet

At noon Monday the test well Kewanee Oil Co., test well which was started May 12, had reached a depth of a little more than 3,000 feet, and the drill was still in hard stone.

The depth posted at 8 a. m. Monday was 2,995 feet, and the depth posted Sunday morning was 2,885. The well is now about half the depth it was indicated would be necessary to thoroughly explore the immediate area for oil and gas.

Sunday saw a long line of cars parked along the road near the drilling outfit. Sometimes this line was nearly a half mile long.

Runaway Girl Found in City

A 15-year-old New Holland girl was at home late Sunday after a 36-hour excursion as a runaway—all of the time spent in Washington, C. H.

The girl walked out of a Washington C. H. store about 10:30 a. m. Saturday, while her foster parents were not looking, officers at the sheriff's department said.

Search for her continued through Saturday and Sunday until she was found late Sunday by an older brother walking in front of 430 Blackstone Ave.

Methodist Ministers, Laymen Attend Lakeside Conference

Four Methodist ministers of churches in Fayette County and at least two retired ministers, their wives and lay delegates are either at Lakeside for the Ohio Conference now or will be there Tuesday.

The conference opens Tuesday and continues through Sunday. The Rev. L. J. Poe, pastor of Grace Methodist Church here, Mrs. Poe, the Rev. and Mrs. Perry Grim and the Rev. and Mrs. Dwight Nelson left Washington C. H. for the conference, Monday morning. The Rev. Mr. Grim and the Rev. Mr. Nelson are both retired.

Ralph R. Penn, lay delegate of Grace Church, and Mrs. Penn also left for Lakeside Monday. Whether the Rev. Herbert Ricketts, pastor of the Bloomingburg church, would be able to attend the conference is uncertain because of illness in his family near Cincinnati. However, Mrs. Olive Lynch is representing the church as the first alternate lay delegate and Mrs. Irene Gibeau as the second alternate. They were accompanied by Glenn Whiteside, delegate of the church at Sedalia. Mrs. W. P. Noble, the Bloomingburg delegate, was unable to attend the conference.

THE GOOD HOPE charge, which includes the Good Hope, New Martinsburg, Maple Grove and Sugar Grove churches, will be represented by the Rev. Ralph Yoss, the pastor, and Frank McCoppin, the lay delegate. Mrs. Yoss and Mrs. McCoppin accompanied them.

The Jeffersonville church will be represented by the Rev. C. R. Williamson, the pastor, and Mrs. Margaret Dowler, the lay delegate. Mrs. Williamson accompanied Mr. Williamson.

The Millersville church will be represented by the Rev. Robert Slocumb, the pastor, and a lay delegate from the church in South Solon, which is in the Millersville charge. Mrs. Slocumb will remain with relatives in Newark during the week.

BISHOP Hazen G. Werner will open the conference in Hoover Auditorium at Lakeside Tuesday and on Saturday evening will read the appointments of pastors of the conference to churches for another year.

The conference is to be concluded Sunday afternoon with the ordination service.

Bishop Werner will bring the devotional message each morning at the opening of the day's sessions.

Delegates to the conference will hear of the progress which has been made in the program to establish a new theological school in Ohio. They will hear Dr. John W. Dickhaut, director of the new school, report on plans to date, including a report that more than $150,000 already has been raised in Ohio.

Another special project of the year on which interest will center is the Ohio Area Study, directed by Dr. Clarence La Rue in which an effort has been made to study all of the changing conditions in Ohio which might effect the course of the ministry which the Methodist Church should provide in years ahead.

179 Pound Lost
By Baltimore Man

BALTIMORE (AP)—Two years ago, Ickman Vincent Ignatowski was so fat he was near death. At 359 pounds, it was a real effort for him to step over a curb.

Today, the 56-year-old bachelor is a trim 180 pounds, striding briskly through his daily routine.

His westline has shrunk from 72 to 36 inches; he wears a size 15 shirt instead of a size 22; his shoe size has dropped from 11 to 9.

The miracle, if that's what it is, came mostly by his own grim determination. Dr. Douglas Carroll said Vince often did not even eat the 800 calories allowed per day.

Hindsight Seen Big Aid to Businessmen

First Part of Year
Reviewed as Guide
To Future Planning

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Hindsight is a valuable tool for business observers.

Taking a look at how the first part of the year didn't turn out, businessmen feel happier today about the "second half. They now feel that it will be better than they first feared — that is, for a lot but not all of them.

But businessmen have learned that generalities are tricky in summing up business cycles. Good times don't exist everywhere simultaneously.

The key seems to be human nature — more particularly the slowly changing habits of American consumers.

As far as business is concerned, summer starts with Memorial Day and ends with Labor Day. And with the early part of the year as a guide, businessmen now look for a top performance in those seasonal lines that flower in summer.

Steelmen, for instance, are saying that production may average below 80 per cent of capacity this summer. Hindsight has told them that demand once so panting, has been pretty well slack.

However, the steelmen talk confidently of the summer lull's adding urgency to the expected fall rebound.

But the American citizenry, if going in more for all year around instead of seasonal buying, and for increased leisure time, is also giving every indication of stepping up its buying of more personal services and recreation and entertainment this summer.

Businessmen who cater to these years—the many suppliers of the resort and travel industries—look forward to their biggest summer.

But nervousness may creep in again as many of the basic industries start slowing down in coming weeks. Many of the statistical guides to the economy's trend are likely to slide they could dip lower than last summer and make the timid jittery.

The cost of living may continue its steady if creeping rise. So the summer may be less tranquil than some hope. But business spokesmen are almost all saying it'll be a quiet summer and a rousing fall.

Georgia is sometimes nicknamed the Empire State of the South.

Six Are Fined In Municipal Court Monday

One man was fined for driving while intoxicated, four for various other traffic offenses and one for intoxication by Judge Max G. Dice in Municipal Court Monday.

Fined $200 and costs and sentenced to 10 days in jail, seven suspended, on the DWI charge, was Homer Anders, 25, of 423 W. Temple St., Anders' license was also suspended for one year when he pleaded guilty.

He was also fined $10 and costs after he admitted to speeding. The latter fine was suspended.

PLEADING not guilty to running a red light, Lester Wetzberger, 45, of Columbus, was found guilty and fined $5 and costs. The fine and costs both were suspended.

Max Harlan, 20, of Jeffersonville, was fined $5 and costs after he pleaded guilty to driving an auto with a defective muffler.

Reuben Hatfield, 63, Miami Trace Rd., was fined $5 and costs the fine suspended, after he pleaded guilty to failure to yield the right of way. Hatfield was involved in an accident on Memorial Day.

Forfeiting $20 bond for failure to appear on a speeding charge was Jesse Richard Liggins, 27, of Dayton.

has been made in both the northern and southern sections of the county.

ALLEN EXPLAINED that the appraisal is to be made on the basis of the real worth of the property and that, under tentative agreement with the state Department of Taxation, the tax will be assessed at 50 per cent of the appraised value.

The final decisions on the tax values and tax rates are made by the Division of County Affairs, headed by Ferd Becker, of the state Department of Taxation, Allen said.

Of the 88 counties in Ohio, the reappraisal has been completed in 63, Allen said he had been told. Reappraisals in three counties bordering Fayette County have just been completed, Allen said. They are Ross, Clinton and Madison.

Reappraisals are now getting underway in two others, Strickland and Highland.

Allen told the group Saturday night that at least four appraisal firms have been approved for this work by the state Department of Taxation. Cole-Layer-Trumble of Dayton is one of them, he said.

He pointed out that the purpose

Commissioners Won't Employ 'Administrator'

Fayette County
To Forego Hiring
Special Aide

Fayette County Commissioners said Monday that they had unanimously agreed they will not employ an administrator to aid them with their work in county affairs.

The present Ohio Legislature has enacted a law, effective in 90 days, which grants county commissioners the right but not require them to hire an administrator who can act in the capacity of clerk or assistant to carry out the commissioners' orders in matters coming before that board and in gathering and classifying information necessary in connection with business on which they are to act.

Robert Cockerill, Ralph Minton and Clifford E. Hughes, the present commissioners, agreed that while such an employee might be able to save some money and certainly a considerable amount of time for the commissioners in handling almost endless details connected with their office, they do not believe the county's finances would justify creation here of such a new position at this time.

THE COUNTY AUDITOR Harry Allen under the law, has been acting as a secretary for the board of commissioners here for several years past, and will continue to do so, the commissioners said. He receives no extra salary or fees. It was said however that he cannot do all the detail work which he is expected of a "county manager" for which the new law provides because of his duties in the office he holds.

The commissioners pointed out that the new law may be of special help for the big counties of the state but, in their opinion is unnecessary in a county this size.

AT THEIR regular Monday session in the Courthouse, the commissioners passed a resolution appointing Sam Parrett as "agent of record" for county insurance controlled by the board. He has held that position for some time.

As has been the case for the past several years, the Fayette County Insurance Assn. has agreed that one of its members shall act in this capacity and the insurance is divided as equitable as possible among the local agencies of this organization.

The insurance fees which ordinarily go to the agents is placed in the association's treasury and is used for purposes of insurance education for the public and in aiding in "safety" matters affecting the public good, a spokesman for the organization stated.

Routine matters and approval of bills were the only other matters before the commissioners at today's session.

Well Passes 3,000 Feet

At noon Monday the test well Kewanee Oil Co., test well which was started May 12, had reached a depth of a little more than 3,000 feet, and the drill was still in hard stone.

The depth posted at 8 a. m. Monday was 2,995 feet, and the depth posted Sunday morning, was 2,885.

The well is now about half the depth it was indicated would be necessary to thoroughly explore the immediate area for oil and gas.

Sunday saw a long line of cars parked along the road near the drilling outfit. Sometimes this line was nearly a half mile long.

Runaway Girl Found in City

A 15-year-old New Holland girl was at home late Sunday after a 36-hour excursion as a runaway—all of the time spent in Washington, C. H.

The girl walked out of a Washington, C. H. store about 10:30 a. m. Saturday, while her foster parents were not looking, officers at the sheriff's department said.

Search for her continued through Saturday and Sunday until she was found late Sunday by an older brother walking in front of 430 Blackstone Ave.

Wisconsin Poll Slated

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Wisconsin's Gov. Vernon W. Thomson said today he would call a special election to fill the Senate seat left vacant by the death May 2 of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis). He said he would set the date later.

The ripcord type parachute was first used in tests at McCook field, in Dayton, O., in April, 1919.

Methodist Ministers, Laymen Attend Lakeside Conference

Four Methodist ministers of churches in Fayette County and at least two retired ministers, their wives and lay delegates are either at Lakeside for the Ohio Conference now or will be there Tuesday. The conference opens Tuesday and continues through Sunday.

The Rev. L. J. Poe, pastor of Grace Methodist Church here. Mrs. Poe, the Rev. and Mrs. Perry Grim and the Rev. and Mrs. Dwight Nelson left Washington C.H. for the conference, Monday morning. The Rev. Mr. Grim and the Rev. Mr. Nelson are both retired.

Ralph R. Penn, lay delegate of Grace Church, and Mrs. Penn also left for Lakeside Monday.

Whether the Rev. Herbert Rick-

etts, pastor of the Bloomingburg church, would be able to attend the conference is uncertain because of illness in his family near Cincinnati. However, Mrs. Olive Lynch is representing the church as the first alternate lay delegate and Mrs. Irene Gibeaut as the second alternate. They were accompanied by Glenn Whiteside, delegate of the church at Sedalia. Mrs. W. P. Noble, the Bloomingburg delegate, was unable to attend the conference.

THE GOOD HOPE charge, which includes the Good Hope, New Martinsburg, Maple Grove and Sugar Grove churches, will be represented by the Rev. Ralph Yoss, the pastor, and Frank McCoppin, the lay delegate. Mrs. Yoss and Mrs. McCoppin accompanied them.

The Jeffersonville church will be represented by the Rev. C. R. Williamson, the pastor, and Mrs. Margaret Dowler, the lay delegate. Mrs. Williamson accompanied Mr. Williamson.

The Milledgeville church will be represented by the Rev. Robert Slocumb, the pastor, and a lay delegate from the church in South Solon, which is in the Milledgeville charge. Mrs. Slocumb, will remain with relatives in Newark during the week.

BISHOP Hazen G. Werner will open the conference in Hoover Auditorium at Lakeside Tuesday and on Saturday evening will read the appointments of pastors of the conference to churches for another year.

The conference is to be concluded Sunday afternoon with the ordination service.

Bishop Werner will bring the devotional message each morning at the opening of the day's sessions.

Delegates to the conference will hear of the progress which has been made in the program to establish a new theological school in Ohio. They will hear Dr. John W. Dickhaut, director of the new school, report on plans to date, including a report that more than $3,150,000 already has been raised in Ohio.

Another special project of the year on which interest will center is the Ohio Area Study, directed by Dr. Clarence La Rue in which an effort has been made to study all of the changing conditions in Ohio which might effect the course of the ministry which the Methodist Church should provide in years ahead.

179 Pound Lost
By Baltimore Man

BALTIMORE (AP)—Two years ago, iceman Vincent Ignatowski was so fat he was near death. At 359 pounds, it was a real effort for him to step over a curb.

Today, the 56-year-old bachelor is a trim 180 pounds, striding briskly through his daily routine.

His wasteline has shrunk from 72 to 36 inches; he wears a size 15 shirt instead of a size 22; his shoe size has dropped from 11 to 9.

The miracle, if that's what it is, came mostly by his own grim determination. Dr. Douglas Carroll said Vince often did not even eat the 800 calories allowed per day.

Hindsight Seen Big Aid to Businessmen

First Part of Year
Reviewed as Guide
To Future Planning

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Hindsight is a valuable tool for business observers.

Taking a look at how the first part of the year didn't turn out, businessmen feel happier today about the second half. They now feel that it will be better than they first feared — that is, for a lot but not all of them.

But businessmen have learned that generalities are tricky in summing up business cycles. Good times don't exist everywhere simultaneously.

The key seems to be human nature — more particularly the slowly changing habits of American consumers.

As far as business is concerned, summer starts with Memorial Day and ends with Labor Day. And with the early part of the year as a guide, businessmen now look for a top performance in those seasonal lines that flower in summer.

Steelmen, for instance, are saying that production may average below 80 per cent of capacity this summer. Hindsight has told them that demand once so panting, has been pretty well slaked.

However, the steelmen talk confidently of the summer lull's adding urgency to the expected fall rebound.

But the American citizenry, if going in more for all year around instead of seasonal buying, and for increased leisure time, is also giving every indication of stepping up its buying of more personal services and recreation and entertainment this summer.

Businessmen who cater to these resents—the many suppliers of the resort and travel industries—look forward to their biggest summer.

But nervousness may creep in again as many of the basic industries start slowing down in coming weeks. Many of the statistical guides to the economy's trend are likely to slide. They could dip lower than last summer and make the timid jittery.

The cost of living may continue its steady if creeping rise. So the summer may be less tranquil than some hope. But business spokesmen are almost all saying it'll be a quiet summer and a rousing fall.

Georgia is sometimes nick-named the Empire State of the South.

Six Are Fined In Municipal Court Monday

One man was fined for driving while intoxicated, four for various other traffic offenses and one for intoxication by Judge Max G. Dice in Municipal Court Monday.

Fined $200 and costs and sentenced to 10 days in jail, seven suspended, on the DWI charge, was Homer Anders, 25, of 423 W. Temple St. Anders' license was also suspended for one year when he pleaded guilty.

He was also fined $10 and costs after he admitted to speeding. The latter fine was suspended.

PLEADING not guilty to running a red light, Lester Weitzberger, 45, of Columbus, was found guilty and fined $5 and costs. The fine and costs both were suspended.

Max Harlan, 20, of Jeffersonville, was fined $5 and costs after he pleaded guilty to driving an auto with a defective muffler.

Reuben Hatfield, 63, Miami Trace Rd., was fined $5 and costs the fine suspended, after he pleaded guilty to failure to yield the right of way. Hatfield was involved in an accident on Memorial Day.

Forfeiting $20 bond for failure to appear on a speeding charge was Jesse Richard Liggins, 27, of Dayton.

has been made in both the northern and southern sections of the county.

ALLEN EXPLAINED that the appraisal is to be made on the basis of the real worth of the property and that, under tentative agreement with the state Department of Taxation, the tax will be assessed at 50 per cent of the appraised value.

The final decisions on the tax values and tax rates are made by the Division of County Affairs, headed by Ferd Becker, of the state Department of Taxation, Allen said.

Of the 88 counties in Ohio, the reappraisal has been completed in 63, Allen said he had been told. Reappraisals in three counties bordering Fayette County have just been completed, Allen said. They are Ross, Clinton and Madison.

Reappraisals are now getting underway in two others, Pickaway and Highland.

Allen told the group Saturday night that at least four appraisal firms have been approved for this work by the state Department of Taxation. Cole-Layer-Trumble of Dayton is one of them, he said.

He pointed out that the purpose

Hay, Pasture Tour Scheduled Next Friday

Four Fayette County farms will be visited next Friday by a group of farmers on the annual hay and pasture tour sponsored by the agronomy committee and the dairy service association of the county Extension Service.

About 50 farmers are expected to take part in the tour, which will start at 1 p. m. and probably end about 4 p. m. County Agent W. W. Montgomery said.

THE FRANK DILL Farm on Creek Rd. will be the first stop. Tour members will examine treated pastures and the Dill's bulk milk tank.

About 1.30, the group will arrive at the J. M. Cunningham farm, corner of Snowhill and Leesburg Rds., where a trench silo lined with concrete, will be shown. Concrete feeding floors for dairy cows will also be on display.

Emerson Marting's farm on the CCC highway west is the goal for 2 p. m. A hay crusher will be in operation.

Band seeding, different rates of fertilizer on wheat, and possibly another hay crusher operation will be shown at the Alvin Sexton Farm, Prairie Rd., about 3 p. m.

GORDON RYDER, agronomy specialist, C. D. McGreir, dairy specialist, and Roger A. Miller, agricultural engineering dairy specialist—all from the Ohio extension Service will be on hand.

Members of the tour committees are Bill McFadden, Roger Sollars, Alvin Sexton, Gene Mark, Leo Fisher, Frank Dill and Dale Smith.

Montgomery and Associate Agent Phil Grover will also participate.

Service pins were presented to six local employees of The Dayton Power and Light Company at the annual banquet held at the General Denver Hotel, Wilmington, for the southern division personnel.

Lloyd Sowders was presented a pin for 20 years of service, Charles Mallow for 15 years and Earnest Jordan, Robert Fisher and Roger Whipkey, 10-year pins. Amie Rauenhorst received her 5-year pin. District Manager A. E. Weatherly, along with supervisors Cline Deere, George Finley and Warren Schleich were, also present at the affair.

Tuesday Final Blue Cross Enrollment Day

Tuesday will mark the final day for the annual Fayette County Blue Cross Community enrollment. Enrollment headquarters are at the First Federal Savings and Loan Co. office on Court St. A Blue Cross representative will be on duty from 9 to 4 p. m. to answer all questions concerning the Blue Cross Plan.

The drive is under the sponsorship of the Business and Professional Women's Club, of which Miss Mary F. Snider is president. Blue Cross also carries the endorsement of the Fayette County Medical Society and Fayette Memorial Hospital.

Blue Cross was designed as a system of voluntary pre-payment of hospital bills. This idea has steadily gained acceptance until to day there are over 52 million Americans receiving the benefits of Blue Cross protection. Some of these benefits are operating room; oxygen; all drugs and dressings including the anti-biotics streptomycin and penicillin; 30 days annually for each member in a semi-private

Questions In Present Disarmament Talks

Results of the recent talks between President Eisenhower and Konrad Adenauer, the German head of the West German Bonn Republic, may have an important bearing on the chances for a limited disarmament agreement between Western nations and the Russians.

Adenauer faces a critical situation. He does not think that Russia's reported suggestion for a united but disarmed Germany is a good thing for Germany. He apparently does not trust Russia's intentions.

The German statesman and his party of Christian Democrats are being hard pressed in their campaigns for the election next September by the Socialists who demand some kind of a disarmament plan and a united and reunified Germany. They may even go along with the Russian suggestions now cleverly appealing for a neutral, unarmed reunited Germany. They even threaten, it is said, to carry on direct negotiations with Moscow. All this has a certain amount of appeal to many Germans as being a good solution for their divided country.

Others regard it as a tricky effort to make Germany helpless in the event Russia should suddenly attempt an armed effort to force Communism on all of Central Europe.

Many think the main reason for Adenauer's visit here at this time was to show the West Germans his close relations with President Eisenhower and the American government. The Gettysburg and Washington conferences should accomplish that. The two men announced the agreement to press for a limited disarmament pact with the Soviet Union.

Both leaders said the limited plan could lead later to a "comprehensive disarmament agreement" but they agreed that any such step "must necessarily presuppose a prior solution of the problem of German reunification."

In the past Russian disarmament proposals have been regarded as largely for propaganda effect, but recently Russian officials have been conferring in private. In the "different tone" is real, perhaps a beginning toward a world agreement can come about.

Doubtless the successful detonation of a hydrogen bomb by the British recently will have some effect on Russian thinking. Now there are two anti-Communist nations with the H-bomb and the British are much nearer to vital Russian targets than the United States. Furthermore, they have bombers easily capable of a London-to-Moscow round trip.

Executives: Start Thinking!

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never suspect if he didn't read his mail:

That one reason why business isn't even better may be the fault of executives. A management expert says the American economy would be 15 per cent more productive if executives would quit worrying and start thinking creatively.

That the average employee still will firmly believe most organizations require two bosses—one to fire people, and the other to build morale.

That a British doctor, after having 600 patients stick out their tongues, concluded fur on the tongue is usually due to smoking, a local infection or fever, but is no index to stomach or intestinal ailments.

That people who are going deaf seldom have the same degree of loss of hearing in both ears.

headaches and a democratic disease then known as the king's evil.

That David Atkinson, the baritone says, "an optimist is a guy who thinks he can win a sweep stake but can't get killed in a car crash."

That a century ago girls used to go through the ordeal of swallowing cradle wax in the hope of achieving a pallid complexion, then in the height of fashion.

That the French claim the original mint juleps were animated with cognac before bourbon was born. Loyal Kentuckians will wonder anew why, if this is so, the French never got around to finishing the Eiffel Tower.

That America had to pay $6 million to clear its main highways of debris left by Memorial Day travelers.

That a car hits a pedestrian every 3½ minutes in the United States and if you drive an automobile yourself the chances are you'll be involved in a fairly serious accident once every seven years.

That it was Diogenes who, when asked what he would take to let a man give him a blow on the head replied, "A helmet."

The Taipei Riots

Riots are not unusual in China. They are, in fact, traditional. During the nearly 14 years that I lived in that country, I witnessed many riots, and I heard of many that I did not witness.

The Chinese, an easily excited, volatile people, readily influenced by those who can read and write and therefore are superior, riot as a means of self-expression in public matters. The Taipei riots let off steam which has been building up for a long time, but there had to be inspiration and direction. No such riot is ever spontaneous.

The two most serious riots that I lived through were in 1919 and 1925. The 1919 riots were known as the Students Movement and arose out of a decision by students in all schools that China should not sign the Paris Treaty because of the Shantung clauses which restored to Japan rights which Japan had wrested from Germany.

The students went on strike, first in Peking and then in Shanghai and within 48 hours throughout the country. There was no Russian or Communist inspiration at this time. It was strongly nationalistic.

At first, people laughed at the youngsters. But they did not laugh long because very soon every store, factory, means of transportation closed down. Even the prostitutes went on strike. The police were helpless because they could not shoot children or put a student in jail. I saw a Chinese citizen cut off a part of his finger and write a patriotic slogan on a wall in his own blood.

In 1925, the riots were Communist-inspired. They started in Shanghai and the leader was Li Lih-San who became one of the big figures in the communists' revolution in China. They started as a labor strike. A Sikh policeman, employed by the Shanghai Municipal Council, shot at Chinese employees of a Japanese cotton mill. Nobody wanted to know what was right or wrong. There was rioting.

All foreigners were regarded as evil. This particular riot developed into the kick-off for the Communist revolution which brought Chiang Kai-shek to power (two years later, he broke with them). It was excellently organized and all those charged with the responsibility for law and order were caught off base.

From my experience with Chinese riots I would say that the anti-American riot in Taipei was inspired and organized by the Communist government in Peking.

The object, of course, was aimed at the repudiation of Chiang Kai-shek's administration of Formosa and it was timed to coincide with Sen. Warren Magnuson's provocation of a debate over doing business with Red China.

From Peking's standpoint the timing was brilliant; from Chiang's, it was disastrous. From the American standpoint, it has complicated our diplomacy.

It is not correct to blame the CIA for its lack of knowledge that a riot was to take place in Taipei.

Chinese riots are like firecrackers. Of course, somebody has to put a light to a firecracker before it explodes, and there is always a punk to start a riot.

The Boxer Rebellion started over the rumor that foreigners like to eat the eyes of Chinese children — that this dish is particularly delectable to missionaries. It does not matter whether the slogans are reasonable or unreasonable; what does matter is that someone should be around to stir things up. And there always is with Communists near at hand.

The Taipei riot started because an American soldier shot what he assumed was "a peeping tom." The likelihood is that the Chinese did have a look into the soldier's window. That, too, is not unusual, as all human beings enjoy the bizarre, and Chinese of the lower classes do not regard nudity as a sin.

So, the soldier shot him and somebody must have been around to start a rumor that American soldiers were about to shoot everybody. It was like the slogan, "The Red coats are coming," some ran away; some burn down a building. Maybe the buildings were burned down by Peking agents.

Chiang Kai-shek's son, Chiang Ching-kuo, is responsible for security in Formosa. His father should demand that all Communists be shipped to the mainland forthwith or decapitated or someone else should do the job of maintaining security.

There may not be too many second chances for Chiang Ching-kuo or for Formosa. Americans do not need to take this sort of thing from any country.

Keeping Kids Happy On A Long Auto Trip

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

IF you are embarking on a long vacation trip in the family auto this summer, I may be able to save you some trouble. For unless you are properly prepared, youngsters can be pretty trying traveling companions.

Long before you leave, make a visit to the neighborhood dime store and invest a few dollars—dimes do not go far anymore—in several small toys or games which you can spring as a surprise on your children when the occasion demands. Keep them hidden until you actually need them in the car to quell an argument or to soothe a tantrum.

Simple Toys Best

Coloring books, a deck of cards and such simple things probably are best for tiny tots. For older girls, dolls which they can dress or paper cut-outs will keep them occupied for a long time. Boys can find amusement in cardboard press-outs of soldiers, boats, cars and the like.

Of course, you've got to make a certain amount of room for the children's favorite traveling toys which they will need throughout the trip.

Games are good time-passers. As you start out in the morning let each member of the family make a guess as to the number of out-of-state license plates you'll spot during the day. Give a daily prize to make the game worthwhile.

Let Them Count

You can set a time limit on counting things on each side of the road.

For example, let the youngster on one side of the car count the number of white houses seen within the next ten miles. Let the other child do the same on his side.

Be sure you have a pillow or two so the kids can take a comfortable nap.

Frequent Stops
Stop at the side of the road every couple of hours and tell the youngsters to race to a certain point and back. Do this a few times and they will run off their excess energy.

However, be sure these impromptu races are staged in safe spots away from speeding cars. Just one word about eating. Traveling is apt to be hard on a child's stomach, so don't make things even more difficult by filling him up on drinks and candy. Make sure his meals are at least adequate, even if they are only sandwiches and milk.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
D. N. C.: What is osteoporosis and how can it be treated?
Answer: Osteoporosis is the loss of vital minerals, particularly calcium, in bones.

It may occur with old age, with disuse of a limb and in women passing through the menopause. Usually, prescribing a combination of male and female hormones, along with an adequate diet, and calcium and phosphorus preparations, will correct this disease.

A Canadian was fined $12.60 each for catching 10 rainbow trout out of season. At those prices, opines Milt, the sterling printer, they should have been solid-gold fish.

Midwife to A Guppy
HAMMOND, Ind. (AP)—A guppy in Mrs. Howard L. Rose's aquarium gave birth to nine little guppies and then flipped out of the tank and died.

With paring knife, tweezers and safety pins, Mrs. Rose delivered 21 more little guppies from the tiny fish's body.

The Nation Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev, the Russian Communist party boss, has never been invited to this country but he wound up in millions of American homes, spreading Russian propaganda.

He did a good job for himself and Russia Sunday when CBA, which had filmed an interview with him in the Kremlin, presented him for an hour on its Face the Nation television show.

He was self-assured, relaxed, quick and good-tempered. He gave the appearance of a man oozing good will. To a lot of people he may have seemed reasonable and convincing. Actually, he said nothing new.

This was the chance, and he was smart enough to take it, to repeat face-to-face with millions of Americans the well-known Kremlin position on a number of issues which separate the United States and Russia.

The technique which he used Sunday and has used before is to make sweeping statements, and to appear to make sweeping confessions, which may sound warm and plausible to people who forget about details.

For example: He represented Russia as all for disarmament and getting rid of nuclear weapons. But the fact is the United States has been making such proposals for 11 years.

The stumbling block between the two countries has been on agreeing to some foolproof inspection system which could prevent cheating by either side. Right there the details are enormous.

It was Khrushchev who first belittled President Eisenhower's proposal for aerial inspection. He belittled it again Sunday as a kind of peeping Tom system but suggested, as this country has, that perhaps a first small step might be made.

He made it appear that it was the United States, not Russia, which threw up an Iron Curtain between East and West. But he was at his unconvincing worst on the subject of war and satellites.

He argued with a straight face that if the Russian armies were withdrawn from the satellites, particularly Hungary, the people of those countries would insist on retaining communism.

He wasn't asked, perhaps because time was running out, how he could pretend the satellite people would willingly embrace communism after the bloody revolt in Hungary and the peaceful revolt in Poland.

Although he deplored any future nuclear war as a calamity for mankind, he nevertheless quite confidently predicted that in such a war capitalism would perish and communism would survive.

He may have seemed to be saying something new—but wasn't—on the subject of Red China.

The Russian Communists have always insisted, and Khrushchev said again Sunday, that there is no conflict between their Communist party and the masses of the Russian people.

This convenient reasoning enables the Russian Reds, no matter what hardships they inflict on the Russian people, to argue that they are not doing it, that it is the Russian people doing it to themselves. But the Russians apparently are too afraid of the Russian people to depend on reason rather than power.

Recently the Chinese Communists frankly admitted there can be conflicts between their party and the masses of the Chinese and that the conflicts should be eliminated by persuasion instead of force.

Khrushchev tried to shrug off that Chinese stand by saying communist parties in different countries have to take different roads to socialism. That was an old one. He said the same thing back in February 1956.

All in all, Khrushchev threw no new light on current problems. He sounded like a Russian Communist Party phonograph record. The reason he could answer so fast was that he was giving stock answers.

U. S. National Guard units took part in eleven campaigns and 34 assault landings in World War II.

Questions In Present Disarmament Talks

Results of the recent talks between President Eisenhower and Konrad Adenauer, the German head of the West German Bonn Republic, may have an important bearing on the chances for a limited disarmament agreement between Western nations and the Russians.

Adenauer faces a critical situation. He does not think that Russia's reported suggestion for a united but disarmed Germany is a good thing for Germany. He apparently does not trust Russia's intentions.

The German statesman and his party of Christian Democrats are being hard pressed in their campaigns for the election next September by the Socialists who demand some kind of a disarmament plan and a united and reunified Germany. They may even go along with the Russian suggestions now cleverly appealing for a neutral, unarmed reunited Germany. They even threaten, it is said, to carry on direct negotiations with Moscow. All this has a certain amount of appeal to many Germans as being a good solution for their divided country.

Others regard it as a tricky effort to make Germany helpless in the event Russia should suddenly attempt an armed effort to force Communism on all of Central Europe.

Many think the main reason for Adenauer's visit here at this time was to show the West Germans his close relations with President Eisenhower and the American government. The Gettysburg and Washington conferences should accomplish that. The two men announced the agreement to press for a limited disarmament pact with the Soviet Union.

Both leaders said the limited plan could lead later to a "comprehensive disarmament agreement" but they agreed that any such step "must necessarily presuppose a prior solution of the problem of German reunification."

In the past Russian disarmament proposals have been regarded as largely for propaganda effect, but recently Russian officials have been conferring in private. In the "different tone" is real, perhaps a beginning toward a world agreement can come about.

Doubtless the successful detonation of a hydrogen bomb by the British recently will have some effect on Russian thinking. Now there are two anti-Communist nations with the H-bomb and the British are much nearer to vital Russian targets than the United States. Furthermore, they have bombers easily capable of a London-to-Moscow round trip.

Executives: Start Thinking!

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never suspect if he didn't read his mail:

That one reason why business isn't even better may be the fault of executives. A management expert says the American economy would be 15 per cent more productive if executives would quit worrying and start thinking creatively.

That the average employee still will firmly believe most organizations require two bosses—one to fire people, and the other to build morale.

That a British doctor, after having 600 patients stick out their tongues, concluded fur on the tongue is usually due to smoking, a local infection or fever, but is no index to stomach or intestinal ailments.

That people who are going deaf seldom have the same degree of loss of hearing in both ears.

That 300 years ago a London advertisement recommended the drinking of coffee as a treatment for eyecores, coughs, colds, consumption, dropsy, gout, scurvy, headaches and a democratic disease then known as the king's evil.

That David Atkinson, the baritone says, "an optimist is a guy who thinks he can win a sweepstake but can't get killed in a car crash."

That a century ago girls used to go through the ordeal of swallowing cradle wax in the hope of achieving a pallid complexion, then in the height of fashion.

That the French claim the original mint juleps were animated with cognac before bourbon was born. Loyal Kentuckians will wonder anew why, if this is so, the French never got around to finishing the Eiffel Tower.

That a secret survey has disclosed the two hours of the day in which the average person is least concerned with sex or the weather are between 4 and 6 a. m.

That a fellow named Lester B. Dill, who owns a cave called the Meramec Caverns at Stanton, Mo., is offering the free use of wedding outfits to people who

That whiskers of the sea lion are prizes as toothpicks by Chinese. The sea lions themselves, naturally, prefer chopsticks.

That most black bears are left-handed. If you don't believe this, hold out your right paw to the next bear you meet and see what happens.

That the best refuge during an electrical storm in open country is inside a car—but don't make the mistake of parking it under a tree.

That America had to pay $6 million to clear its main highways of debris left by Memorial Day travelers.

That a car hits a pedestrian every 3 1/2 minutes in the United States and if you drive an automobile yourself the chances are you'll be involved in a fairly serious accident once every seven years.

The Taipei Riots

Riots are not unusual in China. They are, in fact, traditional.

During the nearly 14 years that I lived in that country, I witnessed many riots, and I heard of many that I did not witness.

The Chinese, an easily excited, volatile people, readily influenced by those who can read and write and therefore are superior, riot as a means of self-expression in public matters. The Taipei riots let off steam which has been building up for a long time, but there had to be inspiration and direction. No such riot is ever spontaneous.

The two most serious riots that I lived through were in 1919 and 1925. The 1919 riots were known as the Students Movement and arose out of a decision by students in all schools that China should not sign the Paris Treaty because of the Shantung clauses which restored to Japan rights which Japan had wrested from Germany.

The students went on strike, first in Peking and then in Shanghai and within 48 hours throughout the country. There was no Russian or Communist inspiration at this time. It was strongly nationalistic.

At first, people laughed at the youngsters. But they did not laugh long because very soon every store, factory, means of transportation closed down. Even the prostitutes went on strike. The police were helpless because they could not shoot children or put a city in jail. I saw a Chinese student cut off a part of his finger and write a patriotic slogan on a wall in his own blood.

In 1925, the riots were Communist-inspired. They started in Shanghai and the leader was Li Lih-San who became one of the big figures in the Communist revolution in China. They started as a labor strike. A Sikh policeman, employed by the Shanghai Municipal Council, shot at Chinese employees of a Japanese cotton mill. Nobody wanted to know what was right or wrong. There was rioting.

All foreigners were regarded as evil. This particular riot developed into the kick-off for the Communist revolution which brought Chiang Kai-shek to power (two years later, he broke with them). It was excellently organized and all those charged with the responsibility for law and order were caught off base.

From my experience with Chinese riots I would say that the anti-American riot in Taipei was inspired and organized by the Communist government in Peking.

The object, of course, was aimed at the repudiation of Chiang Kai-shek's administration of Formosa and it was timely to coincide with Sen. Warren Magnuson's provocation of a debate over doing business with Red China.

From Peking's standpoint the timing was brilliant; from Chiang's, it was disastrous. From the American standpoint, it has complicated our diplomacy.

It is not correct to blame the CIA for its lack of knowledge that a riot was to take place in Taipei.

Chinese riots are like firecrackers. Of course, somebody has to put a light to a firecracker before it explodes, and there is always a punk to start a riot.

The Boxer Rebellion started over the rumor that foreigners like to eat the eyes of Chinese children—that this dish is particularly delectable to missionaries. It does not matter whether the slogans are reasonable or unreasonable; what does matter is that someone should be around to stir things up. And there always is with Communists near at hand.

"AND NOW," beamed the business school teacher, "tell the class what you do when your employer rings for someone to take dictation." "I pick up my notebook," said the pert pupil, "sharpen my pencils, and answer the buzzard promptly."

Obviously, Miss Hastings was destined for success in the business world. Her first boss regarded her with undisguised approval, but a few hours later was moved to point to the portable on her desk and remark, "There is one thing you must remember, my dear. "Do you have a nice, quiet room?"

Keeping Kids Happy On A Long Auto Trip

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

IF you are embarking on a long vacation trip in the family auto this summer, I may be able to save you some trouble. For unless you are properly prepared, youngsters can be pretty trying traveling companions.

Long before you leave, make a visit to the neighborhood dime store and invest a few dollars—dimes do not go for anymore—in several small toys or games which you can spring as a surprise on your children when the occasion demands. Keep them hidden until you actually need them in the car to quell an argument or to soothe a tantrum.

Simple Toys Best

Coloring books, a deck of cards and such simple things probably are best for tiny tots. For older girls, dolls which they can dress or paper cut-outs will keep them occupied for a long time. Boys can find amusement in cardboard press-outs of soldiers, boats, cars and the like.

Of course, you've got to make a certain amount of room for the children's favorite traveling toys which they will need throughout the trip.

Games are good time-passers. As you start out in the morning let each member of the family make a guess as to the number of out-of-state license plates you'll spot during the day. Give a daily prize to make the game worthwhile.

Let Them Count

You can set a time limit on counting things on each side of the road.

For example, let the youngster on one side of the car count the number of white houses seen within the next ten miles. Let the other child do the same on his side.

Be sure you have a pillow or two so the kids can take a comfortable nap.

Frequent Stops

Stop at the side of the road every couple of hours and tell the youngsters to race to a certain point and back. Do this a few times and they will run off their excess energy.

However, be sure these impromptu races are staged in safe spots away from speeding cars.

Just one word about eating. Traveling is apt to be hard on a child's stomach, so don't make him up on drinks and candy. Make sure his meals are at least adequate, even if they are only sandwiches and milk.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

D. N. C.: What is osteoporosis and how can it be treated?

Answer: Osteoporosis is the loss of vital minerals, particularly calcium, in bones.

It may occur with old age, with disuse of a limb and in women passing through the menopause. Usually, prescribing a combination of male and female hormones, along with an adequate diet, and calcium and phosphorus preparations, will correct this disease.

The Nation Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev, the Russian Communist party boss, has never been invited to this country but he wound up in millions of American homes, spreading Russian propaganda.

He did a good job for himself and Russia Sunday when CBA, which had filmed an interview with him in the Kremlin, presented him for an hour on its Face the Nation television show.

He was self-assured, relaxed, quick and good-tempered. He gave the appearance of a man oozing good will. To a lot of people he may have seemed reasonable and convincing. Actually, he said nothing new.

This was the chance, and he was smart enough to take it, to repeat face-to-face with millions of Americans the well-known Kremlin position on a number of issues which separate the United States and Russia.

The technique which he used Sunday and has used before is to make sweeping statements, and to appear to make sweeping confessions, which may sound warm and plausible to people who forget about details.

For example: He represented Russia as all for disarmament and getting rid of nuclear weapons. But the fact is the United States has been making such proposals for 11 years.

The stumbling block between the two countries has been on agreeing to some foolproof inspection system which could prevent cheating by either side. Right there the details are enormous.

It was Khrushchev who first belittled President Eisenhower's proposal for aerial inspection. He belittled it again Sunday as a kind of peeping Tom system but suggested, as this country has, that perhaps a first small step might be made.

He made it appear that it was the United States, not Russia, which threw up an Iron Curtain between East and West. But he was at his unconvincing worst on the subject of war and satellites.

He argued with a straight face that if the Russian armies were withdrawn from the satellites, particularly Hungary, the people of those countries would insist on retaining communism.

He wasn't asked, perhaps because time was running out, how he could pretend the satellite people would willingly embrace communism after the bloody revolt in Hungary and the peaceful revolt in Poland.

Although he deplored any future nuclear war as a calamity for mankind, he nevertheless quite confidently predicted that in such a war capitalism would perish and communism would survive.

He may have seemed to be saying something new—but wasn't on the subject of Red China.

The Russian Communists have always insisted, and Khrushchev said again Sunday, that there is no conflict between their Communist party and the masses of the Russian people.

This convenient reasoning enables the Russian Reds, no matter what hardships they inflict on the Russian people, to argue that they are not doing it, that it is the Russian people doing it to themselves. But the Russians apparently are too afraid of the Russian people to depend on reason rather than power.

Recently the Chinese Communists frankly admitted there can be conflicts between their party and the masses of the Chinese and that the conflicts should be eliminated by persuasion instead of force.

Khrushchev tried to shrug off that Chinese stand by saying communist parties in different countries have to take different roads to socialism. That was an old one. He said the same thing back in February 1956.

All in all, Khrushchev threw no new light on current problems. He sounded like a Russian Communist Party phonograph record. The reason he could answer so fast was that he was giving stock answers.

U. S. National Guard units took part in eleven campaigns and 34 assault landings in World War II.

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

Fayette County has not only produced some great and near-great citizens, but has been visited by many of the great and the near-great.

For instance Daniel Webster, famous lawyer and statesman, congressman, senator, secretary of state, and twice candidate for president of the United States, once spent most of a summer in Fayette County, visiting relatives. His wife accompanied him.

The realties were Mr. and Mrs. David Eastman, who lived on a farm on Prairie Rd., in Paint Township.

Miss Nan Webster, second cousin of the famed statesman, had come into Fayette County from Sandwich, New Hampshire, to teach school, and met David Eastman. The admiration and love was mutual, and they were married.

Daniel Webster and his wife spent their summer at the Eastman home, which was then largely surrounded by woods, sometime between the years 1840 and 1845.

I understand there is a diary written by Mrs. Webster, which may be available later, which gives the exact year.

The above information concerning the Websters and Eastmans I obtained from Mrs. Lelia Smith, of Hinde and Market Sts., who is a descendant.

Mrs. Smith's parents were Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Myers, and Mrs. Myers' parents were Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Moore. Mrs. Moore was a daughter of David Eastman, and their daughter was Anna Moore who married Isaac Myers, father of Mrs. Smith.

I will have more concerning the noteworthy Eastman family later on, for their history and their list of ancestors are most interesting.

BOB WHITES UNAFRAID
Motoring over township roads in southwestern Fayette County recently, I saw several pairs of quails, or "Bob Whites" along the roadside and marveled at their fearlessness as I drove past them.

Two of the pairs ran along the berm, and did not take wing when I drove along at 35 miles an hour within a few feet of them. They apparently have become accustomed to motor vehicles.

The "Bob Whites" seem to be numerous in the county this spring, and if the season is favorable, you probably will see the greatest increase in their numbers of any recent year.

I rarely see where a quail has been killed by a motor vehicle, due to their quickness on the wing.

ECHO OF THE PAST
Joseph Cherry has an old postcard showing members of Company M taken 47 years ago in Schiller Park, Columbus, when the local company, along with others, was called out during a street car strike in that city. Serious trouble had developed, and it was deemed advisable to have the National Guards take over.

Cherry was in the group of guardsmen, along with Sam Ledy, Jerry and Frank Ferneau, Fred Cripps, Jerry Cripps, and many other local men whom Joe does not recall.

He naturally prizes the old photograph of himself and buddies.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Little by little America was plunging into the First World War, while the British were breaking German lines near Ypers and the Italians were driving the Austrians back.

Armed U.S. vessels sank a German submarine which attacked them. A U. S. Naval fleet had arrived off the French coast ready to help maintain the blockade against Germany and wipe out the German U-Boats.

Company M here had been recruited to 120 men, and in the registration of men of 21 to 31 for war service, 1,576 men were registered in Fayette County.

J. D. Post, chief deputy of registrar, here asked that names of all who failed to register be turned over to him for prosecution.

New plans were ordered drawn for the post office here after a $78,500 bid had been made on first plans. Only $40,000 was available for the building.

A hundred and fifty million Chinese were in revolt and several provinces declared their independence. Black beetles, known as "Bill Beetles" or "Horn Beetles" killed an entire field of corn on Fred Groves farm in Paint Township, were first time in state they were reported in such numbers.

San Salvador city was nearly wiped out by an earthquake with heavy death tolls.

The Red Cross launched campaign for members to carry on work during war.

The annual Chautauqua was announced for late June, with San Carlo Co. and Col. Pattee's Old Soldier Fiddlers among attractions.

Uriah H. Parvin, widely known in this part of Ohio, died in Mt. Sterling at 76 years.

General Pershing and Staff arrived in England enroute to front in France.

One hundred American airman reached the battle zone in France.

Canadian's Statue Is Draped in Black
OTTAWA (AP)—Parliament hill awoke today to find the statue of liberal leader Sir Wilfrid Laurier draped in black.

Police blamed a practical joker, or perhaps a wishful, thinking tory looking ahead to the June 10 elections. The somber mantle was removed.

Beating Is Fatal
CLEVELAND (AP)—Head injuries received in a beating by men who said they chased him to recover a stolen $20 bill were fatal Sunday to Emmett Brooks, 26. Police held Edward Havrilla, 28, and Noah M. Henry Jr., 31, for questioning.

Auto Accident Rate Drops in Fayette County

Fayette County's auto accident rate during the first three months of 1957 was only two thirds of what it was during the same period in 1955 and 1956, figures released by the Department of Highway Safety indicate.

Only 82 accidents were recorded here during January, February and March, while 116 occurred during the same period last year and 112 the year before.

A total decrease of 8 per cent was recorded for the whole of Ohio. Injuries in accidents here fell off even more sharply, as figures during the first three months show only 38 injuries recorded, as compared with 61 last year. There were 21 the year before.

ONLY ONE traffic death has been recorded here thus far this year—Clifford Ryan, 39 of Leesburg, who was killed Jan. 9 when an auto in which he was riding left the Staunton curve and crashed into a tree.

Four fatalities were recorded here during the first three months of last year, but none the year before.

Actually, though the accident rate here was cut more than a third, property damage in accidents during the first three months didn't drop off anywhere near as far.

Property loss in accidents here during January, February and March amounted to $35,700, as contrasted with $38,665 a year ago.

Both years showed a sharp drop over the 1955 first-quarter figure of $55,109.

May Rainfall Above Normal

2.06-Inch Surplus For First 5 Months

Rainfall in May was 4.59 inches or .41 inches above normal which is 4.18 inches for the month.

The May figure brought precipitation to 19.31 inches so far this year, or 2.06 inches above normal for the first five months, according to Coyt A. Stookey, weather observer here.

April's rainfall was 6.99 inches or 3.09 inches above normal.

The heaviest rain during any 24 hour period in May was 1.45 inches on May 22. Precipitation was recorded on 12 days during the month.

The mean temperature for May was 62.27 degrees, or .77 of a degree above the normal of 61.5 degrees.

During the month the temperature ranged all the way from 31 degrees on May 4 to 84 degrees on May 14.

The mean or average, minimum, was 50 degrees and the mean maximum was 74.55 degrees.

IT'S SO EASY TO PLACE A WANT AD

Fayette County 2nd in Ohio In Rural 'Level-of-Living'

Fayette County placed second in Ohio in the "level-of-living" of farm families in 1954, according to figures released by the Ohio field office of the U.S. Department of Commerce.

Pickaway County was first in the Buckeye State, the survey showed.

Book Circulation In County Schools Above Last Year

These are busy days at Carnegie Public Library, with 6,089 books being returned from the 13 county schools during the last few weeks by Robert Dixon, library caretaker and driver.

The books have been carded and the circulation counted. Some books have to be discarded, and about 1,000 are set back for mending during the summer.

Pupil response to this service is reflected in the circulation - 25,381 an increase of about a thousand over last year.

The library staff is now setting up a juvenile American History shelf for the fourth, fifth and sixth grade children of the city schools, who will participate in The American History Summer Reading Circle during June, July and August.

Using information compiled in 1954 Census of Agriculture, the report showed that Fayette County had a level-of-living index of 188, one point behind that recorded for Pickaway County.

The index is based on a figure of 100 being equal to the average level-of-living in Ohio counties in 1954.

The four criteria used in the calculations are the percentages of farms with electricity, telephones, automobiles, and the average value of products sold or traded in the year preceding the census.

The 1954 index figure for the entire state was 160. The index for all farm families in the United States was 140.

IN OHIO, only one county, Guernsey, failed to show an increase in level of living from 1950. Franklin County was 5th with 185 and Madison was 10th with 183.

According to the Department of Commerce, the increases in level-of-living in Pickaway and other Ohio counties, are due, in part, to full employment and rising income, increase in average size of farm and increased mechanization.

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

Fayette County has not only produced some great and near-great citizens, but has been visited by many of the great and the near-great.

For instance Daniel Webster, famous lawyer and statesman, congressman, senator, secretary of state, and twice candidate for president of the United States, once spent most of a summer in Fayette County, visiting relatives. His wife accompanied him.

The realtives were Mr. and Mrs. David Eastman, who lived on a farm on Prairie Rd., in Paint Township.

Miss Nan Webster, second cousin of the famed statesman, had come into Fayette County from Sandwich, New Hampshire, to teach school, and met David Eastman. The admiration and love was mutual, and they were married.

Daniel Webster and his wife spent their summer-at the Eastman home, which was then largely surrounded by woods, sometime between the years 1840 and 1845.

I understand there is a diary written by Mrs. Webster, which may be available later, which gives the exact year.

The above information concerning the Websters and Eastmans I obtained from Mrs. Lelia Smith, of Hinde and Market Sts., who is a descendant.

Mrs. Smith's parents were Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Myers, and Mrs. Myers' parents were Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Moore. Mrs. Moore was a daughter of David Eastman, and their daughter was Anna Moore who married Isaac Myers, father of Mrs. Smith.

I will have more concerning the noteworthy Eastman family later on, for their history and their list of ancestors are most interesting.

BOB WHITES UNAFRAID

Motoring over township roads in southwestern Fayette County recently, I saw several pairs of quails, or "Bob Whites" along the roadside and marveled at their fearlessness as I drove past them.

Two of the pairs ran along the berm, and did not take wing when I drove along at 35 miles an hour within a few feet of them. They apparently have become accustomed to motor vehicles.

The "Bob Whites" seem to be numerous in the county this spring, and if the season is favorable, you probably will see the greatest increase in their numbers of any recent year.

I rarely see where a quail has been killed by a motor vehicle, due to their quickness on the wing.

ECHO OF THE PAST

Joseph Cherry has an old postcard showing members of Company M taken 47 years ago in Schiller Park, Columbus, when the local company, along with others, was called out during a street car strike in that city. Serious trouble had developed, and it was deemed advisable to have the National Guards take over.

Cherry was in the group of guardsmen, along with Sam Ludy, Jerry and Frank Ferneau, Fred Cripps, Jerry Cripps, and many other local men whom Joe does not recall.

He naturally prizes the old photograph of himself and buddies.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Little by little America was plunging into the First World War, while the British were breaking German lines near Ypers and the Italians were driving the Austrians back.

Armed U.S. vessels sank a German submarine which attacked them. A U. S. Naval fleet had arrived off the French coast ready to help maintain the blockade against Germany and wipe out the German U-Boats.

Company M here had been recruited to 120 men, and in the registration of men of 21 to 31 for war service, 1,576 men were registered in Fayette County.

J. D. Post, chief deputy registrar, here asked that names of all who failed to register be turned over to him for prosecution.

New plans were ordered drawn for the post office here after a $78,500 bid had been made on first plans. Only $40,000 was available for the building.

A hundred and fifty million Chinese were in revolt and several provinces declared their independence.

Black beetles, known as "Bill Beetles" or "Horn Beetles" killed an entire field of corn on Fred Groves farm in Paint Township, were first time in state they were reported in such numbers.

San Salvador city was nearly wiped out by an earthquake with heavy death tolls.

The Red Cross launched campaign for members to carry on work during war.

The annual Chautauqua was announced for late June, with San Carlo Co. and Col. Pattee's Old Soldier Fiddlers among attractions.

Uriah H. Parvin, widely known in this part of Ohio, died in Mt. Sterling at 76 years.

General Pershing and Staff arrived in England enroute to front in France.

One hundred American airman reached the battle zone in France.

Canadian's Statue Is Draped in Black

OTTAWA (AP) — Parliament hall awoke today to find the statue of liberal leader Sir Wilfrid Laurier draped in black.

Police blamed a practical joker, or perhaps a wishful, thinking tory looking ahead to the June 10 elections. The somber mantle was removed.

Beating Is Fatal

CLEVELAND (AP) — Head injuries received in a beating by men who said they chased him to recover a stolen $20 bill were fatal Sunday to Emmett Brooks, 26. Police held Edward Havrilla, 28, and Noah M. Henry Jr., 31, for questioning.

Auto Accident Rate Drops in Fayette County

Fayette County's auto accident rate during the first three months of 1957 was only two thirds of what it was during the same period in 1955 and 1956, figures released by the Department of Highway Safety indicate.

Only 82 accidents were recorded here during January, February and March, while 116 occurred during the same period last year and 112 the year before.

A total decrease of 8 per cent was recorded for the whole of Ohio.

Injuries in accidents here fell off even more sharply, as figures during the first three months show only 38 injuries recorded as compared with 61 last year. There were 21 the year before.

ONLY ONE traffic death has been recorded here thus far this year—Clifford Ryan, 39 of Leesburg, who was killed Jan. 9 when an auto in which he was riding left the Staunton curve and crashed into a tree.

Four fatalities were recorded here during the first three months of last year, but none the year before.

Actually, though the accident rate here was cut more than a third, property damage in accidents during the first three months didn't drop off anywhere near as far.

Property loss in accidents here during January, February and March amounted to $35,700, as contrasted with $38,665 a year ago.

Both years showed a sharp drop over the 1955 first-quarter figure of $55,109.

May Rainfall Above Normal

2.06-Inch Surplus For First 5 Months

Rainfall in May was 4.59 inches or 41 inches above normal which is 4.18 inches for the month.

The May figure brought precipitation to 19.31 inches so far this year, or 2.06 inches above normal for the first five months, according to Coyt A. Stookey, weather observer here.

April's rainfall was 6.99 inches or 3.09 inches above normal.

The heaviest rain during any 24 hour period in May was 1.45 inches on May 22. Precipitation was recorded on 12 days during the month.

The mean temperature for May was 62.27 degrees, or .77 of a degree above the normal of 61.5 degrees.

During the month the temperature ranged all the way from 31 degrees on May 4 to 84 degrees on May 14.

The mean or average, minimum, was 50 degrees and the mean maximum was 74.55 degrees.

Fayette County 2nd in Ohio In Rural 'Level-of-Living'

Fayette County placed second in Ohio in the "level-of-living" of farm families in 1954, according to figures released by the Ohio field office of the U.S. Department of Commerce.

Pickaway County was first in the Buckeye State, the survey showed.

Using information compiled in 1954 Census of Agriculture, the report showed that Fayette County had a level-of-living index of 188, one point behind that recorded for Pickaway County.

The index is based on a figure of 100 being equal to the average level-of-living in Ohio counties in 1954.

The four criteria used in the calculations are the percentages of farms with electricity, telephones, automobiles, and the average value of products sold or traded in the year preceding the census.

The 1954 index figure for the entire state was 160. The index for all farm families in the United States was 140.

IN OHIO, only one county, Guernsey, failed to show an increase in level of living from 1950. Franklin County was 5th with 185 and Madison was 10th with 183.

According to the Department of Commerce, the increases in level-of-living in Pickaway and other Ohio counties, are due, in part, to full employment and rising income, increase in average size of farm and increased mechanization.

Why Blue Cross Is Best Buy

You receive Blue Cross benefits in hospital services — not some cash to aply towards paying your bill. And hospital services come high these days . . . usually more than any allowable cash payments.

Blue Cross provides coverage for necessary hospital services including care in semi-private room. More than 52 million persons in the United States — or every third person — are subscribers. Blue Cross is the hospitals own plan and you get the best service any hospital can furnish. It is the most LIBERAL plan available.

Persons under 65 years of age who are self-employed or work where there are fewer than five employes may enroll.

Those working where there are five or more employes are eligible for membership through a payroll deduction group.

For full information on forming a payroll deduction group visit enrollment headquarters. Billed at home members are covered under the $25 deductible contract.

Does jobs ordinary vehicles can't handle !

The Universal 'Jeep' takes ordinary jobs in stride. Then, for the tough ones, with the extra traction of its 4-wheel drive, and a special low gear range when needed, it takes personnel or cargo through mud, snow, sand or soft earth—on or off the road, in all kinds of weather. For travel at highway speeds it shifts into conventional 2-wheel drive. This versatile vehicle hauls heavily loaded trailers—and with power take-off operates a wide variety of mobile equipment.

Brill-Davis Nuptials Read

Miss Norma Jane Brill became the bride of Mr. Roger G. Davis at 8:30 a. m. Sunday in the South Side Church of Christ. The Rev. Don McMillin officiated.

Miss Brill is the daughter of Mrs. Amos Goolsby Sr., 703 Sycamore St., and Mr. Davis' parents are Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Davis, 630 Sycamore St.

Fifteen minutes of nuptial music preceded the ceremony presented by Dr. John G. Jordan at the organ. Dr. Jordan played "Through the Years", "O Perfect Love", "O Promise Me" and "Always." Mrs. Frank Creamer accompanied Dr. Jordan while he sang "If I Could Tell You."

Given in marriage by her mother, the bride was lovely in a white ballerina length dress of eyel-nylon over net and taffeta which featured a pleated-scooped neckline, fitted torso and fluttering skirt. She wore a circlet of white flowers in her hair. Her jewelry consisted of a triple strand pearl choker and pearl and gold earrings. She carried a white Bible topped with a purple orchid.

The groom chose as his best man his brother, Mr. Ronald Davis, of Columbus.

The ceremony was attended by the immediate families and a few close friends.

The new Mrs. Davis is a 1957 graduate of Washington High School. Mr. Davis also is a graduate of Washington High School, Class of 1951 and is now employed by McGlenn Metal Products in Columbus.

Following a brief honeymoon the couple will make their home in Columbus.

After 5 Years, Tent Cleric Plans $2½ Million Cathedral

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Five years ago the Humbar family rolled into Akron with a tent evangelistic service led by the Rev. Rex Humbar, 38-year-old religious dynamo.

Rex and the rest of the folks stuck around Akron and today he and his 3,000-member congregation are building a 2½-million-dollar Cathedral of Tomorrow, a fabulous, domed structure on Ohio 8 just outside suburban Cuyahoga Falls.

In the years since he held services on part of Akron's Municipal Airport, the Rev. Humbar and his church have acquired real estate worth thousands.

And he has attracted one of the largest followings in the history of Ohio evangelism.

His programs over five television stations and three radio stations reach an estimated eight million persons from Lake Erie to the Ohio River.

Some say he's a "hill-billy entertainer." Others say he's "a great man of God for our times," comparing him to Billy Graham.

Stories about his income have it that he's making a fortune. But he paid income taxes on $8,000 in 1955 and about the same last year.

On one point everyone agrees. The Rev. Rex Humbar has been tremendously successful, both as a preacher and as a man who knows it takes money to reach people with the word of God.

His new church, to be opened this fall, has the largest laminated wooden dome in the world. The dome covers 38,000 square feet, providing 7,000 seats with views unobstructed by posts or supports.

Wings of glass and aluminum for the Sunday School will allow another 1,500 persons to see services in the main auditorium when folding doors are removed.

The nursery has 200 baby beds in three sizes.

The 146-by-40 foot stage has two 30-foot revolving sections and a speaker's platform on an elevator.

Rev. Mr. Humbar has formed a separate non-profit corporation to build a two-million-dollar shopping center on part of his 16 acres.

He'll use rentals for the church, largely for expansion of his radio and TV coverage. There will be 12 acre of blacktopped parking area for the church and shopping center.

Meantime, Humbar's services continue in his Calvary Temple, formerly a 5,000 seat theater near the High Level Bridge in Cuyahoga Falls, and in two school buildings.

He has preached to as many as 5,000 persons and seldom is there an empty seat when the Humbar family begins to sing or when the Rev. Rex climbs on the podium to tell his folks that "God is the answer to all your problems."

The Rev. Humbar, flashy dresser and handsome, insists that without divine help his work in Akron could not have flourished.

But he admits that his energy, ideas and promotional abilities have given him a boost.

Easter Sunday, his sunrise service featured fireworks, the "noiseless kind" that lit the sky for miles around Cuyahoga Falls on that rainy morning.

The grand finale was a display in which Christ was shown on the cross in fireworks with the words "He Has Risen" over it.

The Rev. Humbar called the service "the first religious spectacular that lights the sky."

About 10,000 men, women and children saw the service and a tremendous outpouring of another 20,000 was turned away by deputies and highway patrolmen who said roads leading to Cuyahoga Falls were jammed for hours before and after the service held in the Ascot Drive-In Theater, just across from Ascot Race Track.

Next Easter the Rev. Humbar will rent Akron's Rubber Bowl where 35,000 can see his service. What has brought about his success? Most of his followers say his sincerity, his down-to-earth preaching, his honesty and above all "his love of Christ and what He can do for the world."

"He makes you believe in religion like you never did before," said one elderly man.

When the Rev. Humbar has time he likes to spend it with his sons, Don, 7, and Rex Jr., 14, and his pretty wife. They live in a Cuyahoga Falls home ($9,900 mortgage) and like to eat well and dress well.

White Oak Grove MYF Members Hold Meeting

The White Oak Grove MYF met in the church basement Sunday night with Donna Rife conducting the meeting.
Plans for the summer were discussed and a campaign for increasing membership was outlined. It was decided to postpone the election of officers until a later date. Final plans were made for senior camp, which will be held in Sabina June 16 to 21.
Donna Rife and Janet Knedler gave the devotion.
The program topic for the evening was "The Choice of Vocation by the High School Students." Each member gave their reasons for their choice of vocation and an interesting discussion period followed. The meeting closed with the MYF benediction.
During the social hour refreshments were served by Donna Rife and Janet Knedler.

Brill-Davis Nuptials Read

Miss Norma Jane Brill became the bride of Mr. Roger G. Davis at 8:30 a. m. Sunday in the South Side Church of Christ. The Rev. Don McMillin officiated.
Miss Brill is the daughter of Mrs. Amos Goolsby Sr., 703 Sycamore St., and Mr. Davis' parents are Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Davis, 630 Sycamore St.
Fifteen minutes of nuptial music preceded the ceremony presented by Dr. John G. Jordan at the organ. Dr. Jordan played "Through the Years", "O Perfect Love", "O Promise Me" and "Always." Mrs. Frank Creamer accompanied Dr. Jordan while he sang "If I Could Tell You."
Given in marriage by her mother, the bride was lovely in a white ballerina length dress of eyelet nylon over net and taffeta which featured a pleated-scooped neckline, fitted torso and fluttering skirt. She wore a circlet of white flowers in her hair. Her jewelry consisted of a triple strand pearl choker and pearl and gold earrings. She carried a white Bible topped with a purple orchid.
The groom chose as his best man his brother, Mr. Ronald Davis, of Columbus.
The ceremony was attended by the immediate families and a few close friends.
The new Mrs. Davis is a 1957 graduate of Washington High School. Mr. Davis also is a graduate of Washington High School, Class of 1951 and is now employed by McGlenon Metal Products in Columbus.
Following a brief honeymoon the couple will make their home in Columbus.

After 5 Years, Tent Cleric Plans $2½ Million Cathedral

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Five years ago the Humbard family rolled into Akron with a tent evangelistic service led by the Rev. Rex Humbard, 38-year-old religious dynamo. Rex and the rest of the folks stuck around Akron and today he and his 3,000-member congregation are building a 2½-million-dollar Cathedral of Tomorrow, a fabulous, domed structure on Ohio 8 just outside suburban Cuyahoga Falls.

In the years since he held services on part of Akron's Municipal Airport, the Rev. Humbard and his church have acquired real estate worth thousands.

And he has attracted one of the largest followings in the history of Ohio evangelism.

His programs over five television stations and three radio stations reach an estimated eight million persons from Lake Erie to the Ohio River.

Some say he's a "hill-billy entertainer." Others say he's "a great man of God for our times," comparing him to Billy Graham. Stories about his income have it that he's making a fortune. But he paid income taxes on $8,000 in 1955 and about the same last year.

On one point everyone agrees. The Rev. Rex Humbard has been tremendously successful, both as a preacher and as a man who knows it takes money to reach people with the word of God.

His new church, to be opened this fall, has the largest laminated wooden dome in the world. The dome covers 38,000 square feet, providing 7,000 seats with views unobstructed by posts or supports.

Wings of glass and aluminum for the Sunday School will allow another 1,500 persons to see services in the main auditorium when folding doors are removed.

The nursery has 200 baby beds in three sizes.
The 146-by-40 foot stage has two 30-foot revolving sections and a speaker's platform on an elevator.

Rev. Mr. Humbard has formed a separate non-profit corporation to build a two-million-dollar shopping center on part of his 16 acres. He'll use rentals for the church, largely for expansion of his radio and TV coverage. There will be 12 acre soft blacktopped parking area for the church and shopping center.

Meantime, Humbard's services continue in his Calvary Temple, formerly a 5,000 seat theater near the High Level Bridge in Cuyahoga Falls, and in two school buildings. He has preached to as many as 5,000 persons and seldom is there an empty seat when the Humbard family begins to sing or when the Rev. Rex climbs on the podium to tell his folks that "God is the answer to all your problems."

The Rev. Humbard, flashy dresser and handsome, insists that without divine help his work in Akron could not have flourished. But he admits that his energy, ideas and promotional abilities have given him a boost.

Easter Sunday, his sunrise service featured fireworks, the "noiseless kind" that lit the sky for miles around Cuyahoga Falls on that rainy morning.

The grand finale was a display in which Christ was shown on the cross in fireworks with the words "He Has Risen" over it.

The Rev. Humbard called the service "the first religious spectacular that lights the sky."

About 10,000 men, women and children saw the service and a tremendous outpouring of another 20,000 was turned away by deputies and highway patrolmen who said roads leading to Cuyahoga Falls were jammed for hours before and after the service held in the Ascot Drive-In Theater, just across from Ascot Race Track.

Next Easter the Rev. Humbard will rent Akron's Rubber Bowl where 35,000 can see his service. What has brought about his success? Most of his followers say his sincerity, his down-to-earth preaching, his honesty and above all "his love of Christ and what He can do for the world."

"He makes you believe in religion like you never did before," said one elderly man.

When the Rev. Humbard has time he likes to spend it with his sons, Don, 7, and Rex Jr., 14, and his pretty wife. They live in a Cuyahoga Falls home ($9,900 mortgage) and like to eat well and dress well.

Startling Phillies Use Old Formula For Gains in NL

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Mayo Smith's slightly startling Philadelphia Phillies, who have displaced Milwaukee and Brooklyn as Cincinnati's foremost rival for first place, have hit upon an old but effective winning formula.

They are simply getting strong front-line pitching, excellent relief hurling, clutch hitting and airtight defense. Does a team need any more?

The second-place Phillies got all of that Sunday as they made it three in a row over Brooklyn 5-3.

It took a grand-slam homer by Bob Thurman to give the Cincinnati Redlegs a split in their double-header with Chicago. The Cubs came back to win the second game 4-2 after a 6-4 defeat.

Milwaukee climbed past Brooklyn into third place with a 3-1 victory over St. Louis and Pittsburgh swept a double-header from the New York Giants 3-2 and 2-0.

Chicago's spectacular White Sox maintained their five-game spread over the rest of the field in the American League, coming back to defeat Detroit in the second game 4-1 after the Tigers had won the opener 3-1.

Kansas City dropped Cleveland into third place, half a game behind New York, defeating the Indians 8-2. Boston came from behind to overcome Washington 5-3. The Yankees defeated Baltimore 4-0 after the Orioles had made it three in a row over the world champions with a first-game 3-2 triumph.

The Phillies collected only seven hits against Don Newcombe but used six of them in scoring their five runs. Richie Ashburn tripled to score Bob Miller, who had singled in the third. Rip Repulski's single, Larry Anderson's double and Stan Lopata's home run produced three runs in the fourth. Relief pitcher Dick Farrell homered in the eighth.

Miller, the starter, allowed Brooklyn only one run until he was relieved by Farrell with two on and nobody out in the fifth. Farrell stopped the Dodger threat and went on to yield only three hits in five innings.

On defense, the Phils played errorless ball for the sixth time in their last 12 games and contributed five double plays with shortstop Chico Fernandez participating in four of them.

Thurman's grand-slammer for Cincinnati came in the fourth inning, driving Chicago starter Moe Drabowski practically wild-pitched himself out of the game. The bonus right-hander walked three and hit two batters during that five-run inning. Hersh Freeman hurled three-hit ball in the last five innings.

Bob Rush and Don Elston stopped the Reds with three hits in the nightcap.

Bob Buhl won his fourth game in five decisions for Milwaukee but it took a splendid relief job by Ernie Johnson in the ninth.

R&S Blanked By All Stars Here Sunday

The hapless Satterfield & Ross outfit, which represents Washington C.H. in the Southwestern Ohio (SWO) League, lost its fourth game in a row, and the fourth of the season, at the park on Oakland Ave. here Sunday, when the All Stars from Columbus handed them a 10 to 0 shutout.

But, Tom Smalley, R & S headman said after the game that he was not discouraged as he pointed out that his team played errorless ball in the field. A leaky defense had been his chief worry in the first three games.

Smalley also noted that the R & S boys were facing some of the best amateur pitching anywhere hereabouts when they were held to three singles by John Brucella. The All Star fireballer fanned 14.

IT WAS A GOOD ball game for five innings in which Wayne Van Meter held the Columbus boys to two hits and two runs. They the All Stars lowered the boom in the sixth, scoring 6 runs.

Mac Dews Jr. came in with two out in the sixth and held the All Stars to three hits and two runs.

In other games around the SWO Sunday, Milledgeville edged Greenfield, 9 to 8 and Chillicothe trounced Bloomingburg, 16 to 3. Score of the Blanchester-Reformatory game was not immediately available.

Next Sunday the R & S team (0-4) goes to Greenfield (1-2) Chillicothe (4-0) to Columbus; Bloomingburg (2-2) to the Reformatory and Milledgeville (2-2) to Blanchester.

Moore Collects Sixth Round KO

STUTTGART, Germany (AP)— Archie Moore knocked out Belgian heavyweight champion Alain Cherville Sunday night and then declared once again he would like a title fight with Sugar Ray Robinson whom he called "the greatest living boxer."

Sunday night's knockout came at the end of the sixth round of a scheduled 10-round bout at Exhibition Hall before some 8,000 fans.

The light heavyweight world champion said he had an offer from promoter Jack Hurley of Seattle, proposing to match him against Sugar Ray this summer.

First Loss of Season Suffered by Athletics

The Washington C.H. Athletics suffered their first defeat in the Heart of Ohio League Sunday when they were handed an 8 to 1 defeat at Grove City.

Kenny Robinson held the Grove City boys scoreless for five innings before he tired and was relieved by Bucky Dumford.

Dumford was doing all right on the mound, but errors and loose play in the field were the undoing of the Athletics.

Grove City, now at the stop of the standing with four wins and no losses, scored one in the sixth, but the Athletics evened the score in the seventh.

Then the Washington C.H. outfit fell apart.

Grove City tallied 3 in the bottom of the seventh on two singles, an error and a fly to center that was lost in the sun. The game was tied in the eighth when one run was scored on a double followed by a bases-loaded triple by Frank.

The victory left Grove City alone at the top of the standing, with the Athletics and Reynoldsburg tied for second with three wins and one loss apiece.

In other games around the circuit Sunday, Zanesville beat Chillicothe, 3 to 1; Reynoldsburg beat Lockbourne, 16 to 3 and Columbus beat Lancaster, 4 to 3.

Next Sunday the Athletics will face Reynoldsburg here. It will be the third week in a row they have met the team with which they were tied.

Blind Bowling King Wins on 557 Series

CINCINNATI (AP)—Steve Celinski of Cleveland and Lil Dier of Cincinnati are the new singles champions of the American Blind Bowling Assn. after four days of national tournament competition.

Celinski's 557 topped net singles challengers in the tournament that ended Sunday and Miss Dier's 620, rolled in the last group of bowlers, gave her a 15-pin victory in the gross singles.

Celinski teamed up with S. Kimball of Cleveland for 942 to win the net doubles event.

In gross doubles, Jim Jones and Harry Levin of Brooklyn compiled 1,139 for top place.

Captain Kidd was a real person. His name was William Kidd. A Scotch navigator, he was tried for murder and hanged in 1701.

Big Thurman Bat Is Help To Redlegs

CINCINNATI (AP)—Cincinnati's high-flying Redlegs are still winning games on the strength of Bob Thurman's big bat.

Thurman's grand slam homer in the fourth inning hoisted the Reds into a lead Cincinnati hung onto to take the first game of a double-header, 6-4, from Chicago's Cubs.

But the Reds needed more than a mighty homer in the second game. Chicago won its first game of the season from the Reds, 4-2, behind three-hit pitching.

The split put the National League-leading Reds two games ahead of Philadelphia's rising Phillies.

Cub starter Moe Drabowsky helped the Redleg cause along in the first game, loading the bases before Thurman's homer. Then he filled them up again afterward, and walked in the final Cincinnati marker.

George Crowe came out of a hitting slump with a homer in the second inning that was the Reds first score.

Cincinnati starter Don Gross was hit hard in the second inning, giving up five hits that accumulated four runs.

But Cub rightlander Bob Rush took command in the second game, hurling the early innings of his first win this season—in seven decisions.

Rush had a two-hitter going until he pulled up lame in the sixth inning while darting from first to third. He turned the mound job over to Don Elston, who hoked the Reds off on one hit the rest of the game.

Startling Phillies Use Old Formula For Gains in NL

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Mayo Smith's slightly startling Philadelphia Phillies, who have displaced Milwaukee and Brooklyn as Cincinnati's foremost rival for first place, have hit upon an old but effective winning formula.

They are simply getting strong front-line pitching, excellent relief hurling, clutch hitting and airtight defense. Does a team need any more?

The second-place Phillies got all of that Sunday as they made it three in a row over Brooklyn 5-3.

It took a grand-slam homer by Bob Thurman to give the Cincinnati Reds a split in their double-header with Chicago. The Cubs came back to win the second game 4-2 after a 6-4 defeat.

Milwaukee climbed past Brooklyn into third place with a 3-1 victory over St. Louis and Pittsburgh swept a double-header from the New York Giants 3-2 and 2-0.

Chicago's spectacular White Sox maintained their five-game spread over the rest of the field in the American League, coming back to defeat Detroit in the second game 4-1 after the Tigers had won the opener 3-1.

Kansas City dropped Cleveland into third place, half a game behind New York, defeating the Indians 8-2. Boston came from behind to overcome Washington 5-3. The Yankees defeated Baltimore 4-0 after the Orioles had made it three in a row over the world champions with a first-game 3-2 triumph.

The Phillies collected only seven hits against Don Newcombe but used six of them in scoring their five runs. Richie Ashburn tripled to score Bob Miller, who had singled in the third. Rip Repulski's single, Harry Anderson's double and Stan Lopata's home run produced three runs in the fourth. Relief pitcher Dick Farrell homered in the eighth.

Miller, the starter, allowed Brooklyn only one run until he was relieved by Farrell with two on and nobody out in the fifth. Farrell stopped the Dodger threat and went on to yield only three hits in five innings.

On defense, the Phils played errorless ball for the sixth time in their last 12 games and contributed five double plays with shortstop Chico Fernandez participating in four of them.

Thurman's grand-slammer for Cincinnati came in the fourth inning, during which Chicago starter Moe Drabowski practically wild-pitched himself out of the game. The bonus right-hander walked three and hit two batters during that five-run inning. Hersh Freeman hurled three-hit ball in the last five innings.

Bob Rush and Don Elston stopped the Reds with three hits in the nightcap.

Bob Buhl won his fourth game in five decisions for Milwaukee but it took a splendid relief job by Ernie Johnson in the ninth.

Johnson got pinch hitter Walker Cooper to hit into a double play and struck out Don Blasingame. Bobby Thomson's two-run single off Larry Jackson was the big blow.

First baseman Dee Fondy's five hits helped Ronnie Kline gain his first victory and Bob Purkey his fourth in Pittsburgh's first double-header sweep of the season.

Jack Harshman's first triumph since May 1, a four-hitter, gave the White Sox a split with Detroit. Nellie Fox, with two singles, and Walt Dropo, with a single and home run, led an eight-hit assault against Paul Foytack. In the opener, Al Kaline collected four of Detroit's 12 hits off Bill Fischer and scored all his team's runs.

Veteran Bill Wight of Baltimore and rookie Ralph Terry won their first games in the Oriole-Yankee split. Wight hurled a three-hitter in the opener and Terry duplicated the feat in the nightcap. Billy Gardner scored the first-game winning run on George Kell's infield out. Three home runs in the first inning, all off starter Heck Brown, accounted for all the Yankee runs in the nightcap. Mickey Mantle hit his 11th with one on and Yogi Berra and Eston Howard followed.

Bob Cerv climaxed a six-run explosion off Cleveland's relief ace Ray Narleski in the eighth to break a 2-2 tie and give Kansas City the rubber of the three-game series. Mickey McDermott won his first in relief.

Ted Williams' 12th homer, a three-run blast in the eighth, ended Pedro Ramos' mastery over the Red Sox. Ramos had beaten Boston eight times in 10 lifetime starts, and had won seven in a row from the Red Sox since last season. Ike DeLoach, in relief of George Susce, won his third of the season.

Miller, the starter, allowed Brooklyn only one run until he was relieved by Farrell with two on and nobody out in the fifth. Farrell stopped the Dodger threat and went on to yield only three hits in five innings.

On defense, the Phils played errorless ball for the sixth time in their last 12 games and contributed five double plays with shortstop Chico Fernandez participating in four of them.

R&S Blanked By All Stars Here Sunday

The hapless Satterfield & Ross outfit, which represents Washington C.H. in the Southwestern Ohio (SWO) League, lost its fourth game in a row, and the fourth of the season, at the park on Oakland Ave. here Sunday, when the All Stars from Columbus handed them a 10 to 0 shutout.

But, Tom Smalley, R & S headman said after the game that he was not discouraged as he pointed out that his team played errorless ball in the field. A leaky defense had been his chief worry in the first three games.

Smalley also noted that the R & S boys were facing some of the best amateur pitching anywhere hereabouts when they were held to three singles by John Brucilla. The All Star fireballer fanned 14.

IT WAS A GOOD ball game for five innings in which Wayne Van Meter held the Columbus boys to two hits and two runs. They the All Stars lowered the boom in the sixth, scoring 6 runs.

Mac Dews Jr. came in with two out in the sixth and held the All Stars to three hits and two runs.

First Loss of Season Suffered by Athletics

The Washington C.H. Athletics suffered their first defeat in the Heart of Ohio League Sunday when they were handed an 8 to 1 defeat at Grove City.

Kenny Robinson held the Grove City boys scoreless for five innings before he tired and was relieved by Bucky Dumford.

Dumford was doing all right on the mound, but errors and loose play in the field were the undoing of the Athletics.

Grove City, now at the stop of the standing with four wins and no losses, scored one in the sixth, but the Athletics evened the score in the seventh.

Then the Washington C.H. outfit fell apart.

Grove City tallied 3 in the bottom of the seventh on two singles, an error and a fly to center that was lost in the sun. The game was tied in the eighth when one run was scored on a double followed by a bases-loaded triple by Frank.

The victory left Grove City alone at the top of the standing, with the Athletics and Reynoldsburg tied for second with three wins and one loss apiece.

In other games around the circuit Sunday, Zanesville beat Chillicothe, 3 to 1; Reynoldsburg beat Lockbourne, 16 to 3 and Columbus beat Lancaster, 4 to 3.

Next Sunday the Athletics will face Reynoldsburg here. It will be the third week in a row they have met the team with which they were tied.

The split put the National League-leading Reds two games ahead of Philadelphia's rising Phillies.

Cub starter Moe Drabowski helped the Redlegs cause along in the first game, loading the bases before Thurman's homer. Then he filled them up again afterward, and walked in the final Cincinnati marker.

Lebanon Collects Sixth Round KO

STUTTGART, Germany (AP)—Archie Moore knocked out Belgian heavyweight champion Alain Cherville Sunday night and then declared once again he would like a title fight with Sugar Ray Robinson whom he called "the greatest living boxer."

Sunday night's knockout came at the end of the sixth round of a scheduled 10-round bout at Exhibition Hall before some 8,000 fans.

The light heavyweight world champion said he had an offer from promoter Jack Hurley of Seattle, proposing to match him against Sugar Ray this summer.

Man Left To Die In Cincinnati Yard

CINCINNATI (P)—Police today sought to learn how a man was shot and left to die on the front porch of a home in Cincinnati's Walnut Hills district.

Officers said the man, identified as Charles L. Allen, about 35, was seen earlier Sunday in the district with a "large roll of bills," but that his clothing held less than $2 when he was found.

Allen died enroute to the General Hospital. Investigators said they found no blood leading to the porch and said Allen may have been shot elsewhere and left at the house.

Soviets Say American Kids Treated Poorly

MOSCOW (P)—The Soviet press, marking "Children's Day," says that children live happy, care-free lives in the Soviet Union and are treated dreadfully in the United States.

Pravda said 15,000 children were sold on the American black market every year and untold thousands were starving to death. It said that in the United States 5-year-olds were breaking their backs working on plantations, 10-year-olds suffocating in coal mines and children of all ages living on scraps picked out of garbage cans.

O'Neill Gets Degree

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (P)—Gov. C. William O'Neill of Ohio received an honorary degree from West Virginia University at the school's commencement exercises here today.

BY RAY BRANDENBURG

May 31 marked another milestone in my life. Believe it or not thirty-nine (Jack Benny's age) years ago on May 31 I was twenty-four years of age. When one looks back and thinks back over the years the thought arises, what if I had my life to live over again. Of course there are a few things we would have left out but in the main I would have done just what I did. I think it's up to everyone to make out of his life just about what he wants. I never felt the world owed me anything but the opportunity to make a living and I still feel that way. If I have been able to teach my kids how to make living I'm happy.

My friends and family have always meant much to me. Without them there wouldn't be much to live for. I've always been inclined to look on the optimistic side of problems and situations usually they are not half as bad as they seem. I think every citizen should do his part in all civic activities in his community. The old saying "Let George Do It," doesn't get things done very fast.

I used to think Boy, when I reach sixty-five it will be an easy chair on the front porch for me. But years change your thinking some. I may loaf a little more, fish a lot more, travel as much as possible, play with the grandchildren, watch the Herefords grow and sell all the Chevs. and Buicks I can. That leaves no time for porch-sitting. So I'm looking forward with great anticipation to what the future holds. As Boss Kettering once said "I'm interested in what's going to happen because I expect to live the balance of my life in the future."
If you are tired walking come out and buy a new Chev. or Buick. We'll give you a real birthday anniversary trade.

LEGAL NOTICE

Scott Blair, whose place of residence is unknown to plaintiff, will take notice that W. S. Paxson, as administrator with the will annexed of Nellie H. Blair, deceased, on the 22 day of September, 1956, filed his petition in the Probate Court of Fayette County, Ohio, alleging that the personal property of said decedent is insufficient to pay her debts and the just claims against her estate; that she died seized of a fee simple title to the following described real estate situated in said County of Fayette, to-wit: Situate in the village of Blomington; Beginning at a stake in the center of the Blomington and New Holland rise, 30 feet from the center of the Columbus and Cincinnati Railroad (now the B. & O. May 31 marked another milestone in my life. Believe it or not thirty-nine (Jack Benny's age) years ago on May 31 I was twenty-four years of age. When one looks back and thinks back over the years the thought arises, what if I had my life to live over again. Of course there are a few things we would have left out but in the main I would have done just what I did. I think it's up to everyone to make out of his life just about what he wants. I never felt the world owed me anything but the opportunity to make a living and I still feel that way. If I have been able to teach my kids how to make living I'm happy.

My friends and family have always meant much to me. Without them there wouldn't be much to live for. I've always been inclined to look on the optimistic side of problems and situations usually they are not half as bad as they seem.

I think every citizen should do his part in all civic activities in his community. The old saying "Let George Do It," doesn't get things done very fast.

I used to think Boy, when I reach sixty-five it will be an easy chair on the front porch for me. But years change your thinking some. I may loaf a little more, fish a lot more, travel as much as possible, play with the grandchildren, watch the Herefords grow and sell all the Chevs. and Buicks I can. That leaves no time for porching. So I'm looking forward with great anticipation to what the future holds. As Boss Kettering once said "I'm interested in what's going to happen because I expect to live the balance of my life in the future."

If you are tired walking come out and buy a new Chev. or Buick. We'll give you a real birthday anniversary trade.

Ohio GOP Betting Political Life on Continuing Boom

By REED SMITH
AP Political Writer

COLUMBUS (AP) — Republican Gov. C. William O'Neill and the GOP-controlled Ohio Legislature are betting their political lives that prosperity will keep rolling along.

Booming business means that the tax dollars keep rolling into the state treasury—and Ohio is going to need just about every dollar it can lay hands on in the two-year budget period beginning July 1.

Republican leaders often criticized Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche for his low (Lausche called them "prudent") estimates of state income. Republicans called for "realistic" estimates. And, because there always was a hefty surplus at the end of each biennium in the Lausche regime, Republican lawmakers got into the habit of spending a lot more money than Lausche's income estimates showed.

This year, from Republican O'Neill, Republican legislative leaders got their "realistic" estimate. Democratic lawmakers called it "optimistic."

SENATE MINORITY Leader Joseph W. Bartunek (D-Cuyahoga), commenting on state spending during senate debate on the general operations budget, declared:

"I predict that even this huge amount won't be enough to cover the state spending."

There, in a philosophical aside, he commented on state spending since World War II:

"We have gone from a debt-free state to a debt-ridden state."

He referred to $100 million still outstanding in World War II bonus bonds, $175 million outstanding in highway construction bonds, $25 million outstanding in capital improvement notes preparatory to the issuance of the full $150 million in bonds in the next few years, and the coming issuance of about another $75 million worth of Korean bonus bonds.

The state still has more than $300 million in borrowing power on the highway bond issue authorized for a maximum of $500 million.

O'Neill and Finance Director John Skipton told the legislature last February their income estimates were based on "the best business conditions for the ensuing two years."

But the lawmakers, perhaps because of the habit of being more optimistic than the governor, appropriated $10 million more than the income estimate.

That means business is going to have to get better if Ohio is to keep its budget balanced.

THE LEGISLATURE which wound up its working sessions last Thursday morning authorized the spending of $1,916,852,000. The total is within striking distance of double the $1,042,554,000 total which the 1955 legislature authorized to be spent.

Of course, the 1957 total is heavily weighted by about $785 million for highway construction, much of which comes from the federal government as President Eisenhower's multi-billion-dollar interstate highway building program is launched.

For a number of years, the state has had a general operations budget, another for capital improvements and separate appropriations for local governments and sundry claims.

But this year O'Neill, "in order to dramatize the way the state's money is spent," added two other budget bills. One, containing appropriations of $414 million, covers the cost of several major state subsidies, including $365 million for the school foundation program.

Another, containing appropriations of nearly $150 million, includes the cost of assistance programs, including aid for the aged. And the capital improvements measure, better known as the "Additions and Betterments bill," this year is nearly $100 million higher than two years ago. This year's A & B bill reflects a big chunk of income from the $150 million bond issue approved by the people for the construction of new mental and penal institutions, university and public school facilities.

The general operations budget, including highways, stood at $1,149,000,000 when it came to the legislature from the governor's desk, but jumped to $1,167,266,255 by the time the legislature finished with it. That included a salary increase for some of the lower-paid state employees that will cost nearly $13 million. Slightly less than $7 million of that amount came from the general fund. The rest came from highways, wildlife and liquor funds.

The appeal asked the Supreme Court to reverse LaBuy and order him to grant "appropriate relief." It did not say how much GM stock Du Pont should be ordered to sell. The market value of Du Pont's stock in GM at the end of 1955 was reported by the government to total $2,914,330,000. Du Pont's income in dividends from this investment in 1955 was 13 1/2 million dollars. In recent years Du Pont's income from GM stock has constituted about one-third of Du Pont's total income, the government appeal said.

Postoffice Losing On Soap Deliveries

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Postmaster Frank A. Lattanzi estimates it is costing the Postoffice Department at least $5,000 to deliver 70,000 free bars of soap to New Haveners.

He said the soap was mailed as free samples from Cincinnati at a postage rate of 3 cents a bar. But he added that it costs the postoffice between 10 and 12 cents per bar for handling.

Lattanzi said the samples are addressed to "occupant" at most street addresses in the city.

B-G Policies To Be Aired

Fraternities, Chiefs Agreed to New Plan

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) — Bowling Green State University barred the press from a meeting Sunday night at which university officials and the Interfraternity Council discussed causes of the recent riot on the campus.

But Harold Van Winkle, public relations director at the university, said Dr. Ralph McDonald, president of the school, told him after the meeting that it was "very friendly."

An estimated 1,500 students rioted at the university May 24. A feud between the council and the university administration over interpretation of the school's ban on liquor at social events was blamed for the demonstration.

Van Winkle said all 16 fraternities at the university were represented at the meeting, including the two which have been suspended indefinitely since the riot. Also as a result of the riot 11 students have been expelled, two suspended and one convicted of inciting a riot.

Douglas Eggleston, Kenmore, N. Y., president of the council, told Dr. McDonald that some system should be set up for clarification of the university's policies, Van Winkle said.

The university said its ban on liquor at social functions included off campus events as well as those on the campus. But some fraternities said they interpreted the regulation as applying only to social affairs on the campus.

Van Winkle said it was agreed at the meeting that a public relations board made up of six students and four faculty members would be organized to explain university policy on any issues that arise.

He said the students complained of lack of communication between students and the school's officials.

Van Winkle said the students also complained that the present student government, run on a student-faculty committee basis, is not representative of the entire entire student body.

Town Is Quiet After Wild Day With Cyclists

ANGELS CAMP, Calif. (AP) — After the noisiest weekend this tiny mother lode town has seen since the Gold Rush, Angels Camp was quiet today. The bark of some 4,000 motorcycles was gone.

Three cyclists were dead as the result of accidents, 23 others were in a hospital and 26 had been jailed overnight, mostly for drunkenness and disturbing the peace.

The trouble started when cyclists on a "gypsy tour" poured into the town of 1,250 population from Nevada, Oregon, Washington and from other parts of California for races at nearby Frogtown.

Police said about 300 cyclists the American Motorcycle Assn. races at nearby Frogtown.

Police said about 300 cyclists staged drag races up the narrow main street and littered the town with beer cans and bottles. For two hours, police said, it wasn't safe to cross the street.

Booming business means that the tax dollars keep rolling into the state treasury—and Ohio is going to need just about every dollar it can lay hands on in the two-year budget period beginning July 1.

Republican leaders often criticized Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche for his low (Lausche called them "prudent") estimates of state income. Republicans called for "realistic" estimates. And, because there always was a hefty surplus at the end of each biennium in the Lausche regime, Republican lawmakers got into the habit of spending a lot more money than Lausche's income estimates showed.

This year, from Republican O'Neill, Republican legislative leaders got their "realistic" estimate. Democratic lawmakers called it "optimistic."

SENATE MINORITY Leader Joseph W. Bartunek (D-Cuyahoga), commenting on state spending during senate debate on the general operations budget, declared:

"I predict that even this huge amount won't be enough to cover the state spending."

There, in a philosophical aside, he commented on state spending since World War II:

"We have gone from a debt-free state to a debt-ridden state."

He referred to $100 million still outstanding in World War II bonds, $175 million outstanding in highway construction bonds, $25 million outstanding in capital improvement notes preparatory to the issuance of the full $150 million in bonds in the next few years, and the coming issuance of about another $75 million worth of Korean bonus bonds.

The state still has more than $300 million in borrowing power on the highway bond issue authorized for a maximum of $500 million.

O'Neill and Finance Director John Skipton told the legislature last February their income estimates were based on "the best business conditions for the ensuing two years."

But the lawmakers, perhaps because of the habit of being more optimistic than the governor, appropriated $10 million more than the income estimate.

That means business is going to have to get better if Ohio is to keep its budget balanced.

THE LEGISLATURE which wound up its working sessions last Thursday morning authorized the spending of $1,916,852,000. The total is within striking distance of double the $1,042,554,000 total which the 1955 legislature authorized to be spent.

Of course, the 1957 total is heavily weighted by about $785 million for highway construction, much of which comes from the federal government as President Eisenhower's multi-billion-dollar interstate highway building program is launched.

For a number of years, the state has had a general operations budget, another for capital improvements and separate appropriations for local governments and sundry claims.

But this year O'Neill, "in order to dramatize the way the state's money is spent," added two other budget bills. One, containing appropriations of $414½ million, covers the cost of several major state subsidies, including $365 million for the school foundation program.

Another, containing appropriations of nearly $150 million, includes the cost of assistance programs, including aid for the aged.

And the capital improvements measure, better known as the "Additions and Betterments bill," this year is nearly $100 million higher than two years ago. This year's A & B bill reflects a big chunk of income from the $150 million bond issue approved by the people for the construction of new mental and penal institutions, university and public school facilities.

The general operations budget, including highways, stood at $1,149,000,000 when it came to the legislature from the governor's desk, but jumped to $1,167,266,255 by the time the legislature finished with it. That included a salary increase for some of the lower-paid state employees that will cost nearly $13½ million. Slightly less than $7 million of that amount came from the general fund. The rest came from highways, wildlife and liquor funds.

The appeal asked the Supreme Court to reverse LaBuy and order him to grant "appropriate relief." It did not say how much GM stock Du Pont should be ordered to sell.

The market value of Du Pont's stock in GM at the end of 1955 was reported by the government to total $2,914,330,000. Du Pont's income in dividends from this investment in 1955 was 13½% million dollars. In recent years Du Pont's income from GM stock has constituted about one-third of Du Pont's total income. The government appeal said.

Postoffice Losing On Soap Deliveries

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Postmaster Frank A. Lattanzi estimates it is costing the Postoffice Department at least $5,000 to deliver 70,000 free bars of soap to New Haveners.

He said the soap was mailed as free samples from Cincinnati at a postage rate of 3 cents a bar. But he added that it costs the postoffice between 10 and 12 cents per bar for handling.

Lattanzi said the samples are addressed to "occupant" at most street addresses in the city.

B-G Policies To Be Aired

Fraternities, Chiefs Agreed to New Plan

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) — Bowling Green State University barred the press from a meeting Sunday night at which university officials and the Interfraternity Council discussed causes of the recent riot on the campus.

But Harold Van Winkle, public relations director at the university, said Dr. Ralph McDonald, president of the school, told him after the meeting that it was "very friendly."

An estimated 1,500 students rioted at the university May 24. A feud between the council and the university administration over interpretation of the school's ban on liquor at social events was blamed for the demonstration.

Van Winkle said all 16 fraternities at the university were represented at the meeting, including the two which have been suspended indefinitely since the riot. Also as a result of the riot 11 students have been expelled, two suspended and one convicted of inciting a riot.

Douglas Eggleston, Kenmore, N. Y., president of the council, told Dr. McDonald that some system should be set up for clarification of the university's policies, Van Winkle said.

The university said its ban on liquor at social functions included off campus events as well as those on the campus. But some fraternities said they interpreted the regulation as applying only to social affairs on the campus.

Van Winkle said it was agreed at the meeting that a public relations board made up of six students and four faculty members would be organized to explain university policy on any issues that arise.

He said the students complained of lack of communication between students and the school's officials.

Van Winkle said the students also complained that the present student government, run on a student-faculty committee basis, is not representative of the entire entire student body.

Town Is Quiet After Wild Day With Cyclists

ANGELS CAMP, Calif. (AP) — After the noisiest weekend this tiny mother lode town has seen since the Gold Rush, Angels Camp was quiet today. The bark of some 4,000 motorcycles was gone.

Three cyclists were dead as the result of accidents, 23 others were in a hospital and 26 had been jailed overnight, mostly for drunkenness and disturbing the peace.

The trouble started when cyclists on a "gypsy tour" poured into the town of 1,250 population from Nevada, Oregon, Washington and from other parts of California for races at nearby Frogtown.

Police said about 300 cyclists staged drag races up the narrow main street and littered the town with beer cans and bottles. For two hours, police said, it wasn't safe to cross the street.
